ADOLF HITLER IS DEFIED BY CZECH NATION

BLOOD IS SHED ON BORDER; EUROPE HAS JITTERS

(By The Associated Press)

Prague—The Sudeten German party, representing most of Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 Germanic minority, delivered to the Prague government a six-hour ultimatum demanding withdrawal of martial law which had been imposed in Sudeten German regions after fatal disorders. The government had ignored it up to 1:30 a. m., Prague Time, today (T:30 p. m. E. S. T., yesterday), the hour considered to have been well past the deadline.

Berlin—Chancellor Adolf Hitler early Wednesday morning was keeping his own counsel in his Bavarian mountain retreat; propaganda ministry spokesman said that the Sudeten ultimatum was not "considered an ultimatum" in Germany, and that it was a matter concerning Sudeten Germans alone.

London—Britain's defense ministers met with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in virtual war council.

Paris—Premier Eduard Daladier maintained late watch at war ministry with high military advisors; government pictured as calm with approximately 2,000,000 troops on the French-German frontier; hundreds of residents of eastern France travelling to interior.

Rome—Italian government sponsored statement advocating separation of Sudeten German territory from Czechoslovakia as only means of avoiding European war.

Moscow—Le Journal de Moscou, often expressing official Soviet foreign office views, said new world war was closer than at any time since 1914.

Geneva—League of Nations circles reported Russia and France were trying to convince Great Britain that any further concessions to Chancellor Hitler would be impossible without wrecking Czechoslovak government.

The Czechoslovak government today (Wednesday) ignored a Sudeten German ultimatum to withdraw martial law from disorderly border regions or take the "responsibility for all future developments."

Europe's war-like fever mounted by degrees, especially when it was learned Konrad Henlein, the Sudeten fuehrer, had discharged his commission delegated to negotiate with the government on his demands for the Germanic minority, and had broken off discussions with Prague.

Dozen Killed

The government's martial law step followed widespread disorders in the Sudeten areas in which

Georgia Next Showdown Of Roosevelt Blacklist

Atlanta, Sept. 14 (AP) — The three candidates for the Senate seat President Roosevelt wants wrested from veteran Walter F. George by a New Dealer each predicted victory tonight on the eve of the Georgia Democratic primary.

Besides choosing between Senator George, New Dealer Lawrence S. Camp and Former Governor Eugene Talmadge, old administration critic, in the senate race, voters also will name candidates for governor, Congress, state house offices and state legislature, supreme, appellate and Circuit Court judges and circuit solitors general.

The Democratic nomination in Georgia is equivalent to election.

George, for whose political liquidation President Roosevelt called as a "dyed-in-the-wool conservative" commented tonight he was "confident" of a favorable decision from the voters "by an overwhelming majority. They know that much more than the extension of my public service is involved."

In the Senate 16 years, George campaigned on his record, stressing support of labor and farm bills and defending his opposition to the original wages and hours measure and Supreme Court and government reorganization. Advertising meetings with sound trucks playing "Dixie," the gray haired senator branded President Roosevelt's call for his defeat another "march through Georgia."

Camp, Atlanta federal district attorney whose nomination Mr. Roosevelt urged when he declared at Barnesville, Ga., last month that George was out of step with New Deal principles, asserted in his election eve statement, "we are riding to a great victory. x x x I know that Georgians are determined to uphold the best friend they ever have had—President Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Camp has campaigned as a "100 per cent" New Dealer, charging George with tieups with "Republicans and big business interests."

The third man in the race, Former Governor Talmadge, forecast, "we are going to win this senate race on the first ballot. The Talmadge legions of two years ago are staunch and true. In addition, we have thousands of converts who have discovered that we cannot spend ourselves rich nor drink ourselves sober."

A fourth candidate for the senate, Townsendite W. G. McRae, Atlanta lawyer, withdrew last night in favor of Camp.

In the gubernatorial contest, Governor E. D. Rivers who sponsored a "little New Deal" program in Georgia is opposed by Hugh Howell, former chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, John J. Manghamnormer chairman of the state highway board, and Robert F. Wood, Athens salesman. All have attacked Rivers' financial policies.

Four of Georgia's congressmen are unopposed, one retired voluntarily and the five others have opposition.

The state elects its senators and governors by a unique county unit system similar to the presidential electoral college. A majority of county unit votes, not of the popular votes, necessary, is required for nomination, otherwise a runoff is held three weeks from the primary.

STOCK MARKET HITS NOSEDIVE

European Tension Causes Nerves To Snap On Wall Street

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Editor

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—Wall Street nerves finally snapped under the growing tension in Europe today and prices in the Stock Exchange went into the steepest dive since last autumn.

For weeks the markets had been holding to a narrow trading range, as financial circles waited for the widely predicted post-Labor Day domestic business pickup, and hoped gathering war clouds in Europe would not interfere.

Yesterday, the money street had inclined to hopefulness over the Czech-Sudeten controversy, and cautiously bid up prices. Even this morning, a little further buying appeared, but it subsided by midday.

The shock came in the last hour of trading, when Wall Street financial tickers flashed news that the Sudeten leaders had served an ultimatum on the Czech government demanding that Martial law and extraordinary police measures be lifted in six hours.

Prices quickly broke $1 to $6 a share in a torrent of selling brokers said a fair part of it came from Europe, with Amsterdam a notable seller. During the height of the excitement, trading was suspended in General Motors for four minutes to give the specialist an opportunity to straighten out his records. Pressure relaxed a little in the final minutes, but closing prices were near the lowest.

The Associated Press average of 60 representatives stocks lost $2.30, and at its final level of $45.60, was the lowest since late June. It was the sharpest drop for any day since the selling flurries of last November.

Federal Wage-Hour Law Taking Effect

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP)—The federal government took its first formal step today to apply the new wage-hour law to industry, setting up a committee of 21 persons to determine minimum wages for 1,300,000 textile workers.

Elmer F. Andrews, wage-hour law administrator, chose the committee and directed it to explore the wage and competitive conditions affecting the manufacture of cotton, silk and rayon products in northern and southern states.

VOTE DELAYED IN UAW FIGHT

Martin's Majority Split Over Proposed Open Break With CIO

Detroit, Sept. 13 (AP)—Postponement of a United Automobile Workers international executive board session today gave rise to reports that President Homer Martin's majority on the board had split over an open break with the Committee for Industrial Organization.

The board had been scheduled to meet at 2 p. m. and vote on a CIO "peace plan" for the UAW, presented to the board by Vice Presidents Philip Murray and Sidney Hillman, two of Chairman John L. Lewis' closest aides. There was no indication when the meeting finally would be held.

It was announced that the board session had been cancelled because President Martin had a severe cold. Late in the afternoon, however, Martin left his bed and went to union headquarters. He canceled a radio address scheduled for 5:45 p. m.

Martin has controlled the votes of 12 members of the 18-man board. The full board had been called for the 2 p. m. meeting. A week ago the members heard Murray and Hillman explain their peace proposal for the first time, but in subsequent sessions the pro-Martin and anti-Martin members met separately. The Martin foes met with five displined "rebel" officers of the union, whose expulsion and suspension from the UAW brought the schism that Hillman and Murray attempted to heal.

Minor Skirmishes Reported In Spain

Hendaye, France (at the Spanish Frontier), Sept. 13 (AP)—Only minor skirmishes were reported today from Spain's battlefields.

Government dispatches were devoted almost entirely to press comment on Adolf Hitler's Nurnberg speech and government newspapers called on Britain and France to adopt a stern attitude in behalf of Czechoslovakia.

TYDINGS WINS BY LANDSLIDE IN MARYLAND

ROOSEVELT PURGE FAILS; MAINE REPUBLICAN

Baltimore, Sept. 13 (AP)—Victor over the New Deal congressional purge, Senator Millard E. Tydings jubilantly watched late returns tonight pile up a popular plurality that indicated a landslide in the state nominating convention, Sept. 28 when the people's mandate will be formally ratified.

The spare, conservative Democrat, seeking renomination for his third term in the United States senate against the direct opposition of President Roosevelt, led Rep. David J. Lewis in 20 of Maryland's 23 counties and in four of Baltimore's six districts, several complete.

Rejected 2 to 1

On the basis of convention votes, Tydings apparently was assured of 117 to Lewis' 32, garnered in the first and sixth Baltimore districts, and the three westernmost counties of the state, Allegany, where he lives, Washington and Garret.

The eastern shore counties, where President Roosevelt visited Labor day in behalf of Lewis, rejected him in favor of Tydings by almost a 2 to 1 plurality.

Arthur E. Hungerford, New Dealer and third entry in the bitter contest, was never a factor in the race.

The unofficial popular vote from 1,023 of the state's 1,288 precincts gave:

Tydings 149,663.
Lewis 102,107.
Hungerford 7,939.

Unofficial returns indicated renomination of Democratic Congressmen Stephen W. Gambrill in the fifth district, William P. Cole in the second, and Ambrose Kennedy in the fourth, but complete returns from the third district gave Thomas D'Alesandro, jr., a 48-vote margin over Rep. Vincent L. Palmisano, 12,909 to 12,861.

"The campaign is behind us," Tydings said, thanking the voters for "a sweeping victory," and adding, "I am sure we will all close ranks now for the general election."

In seclusion at his Cumberland home, Lewis, who retired at 69 from his seventh term in the house of representatives to campaign with White House backing for Tydings' senate seat, declined comment

Hospitals Exempt From Economy Cut

Lansing, Sept. 13 (AP)—An order went out today exempting state hospitals from an economy regulation under which only a small percentage of state employees dismissed for flunking civil service tests will be replaced.

Dr. Joseph E. Barrett, hospital director, said the budget and civil service divisions authorized the exemption, recognizing that enforcement of the economy order against hospital staffs would cause hardship.

Dr. Barrett denied there was friction among the departments.

New Advances Made In Drive On Hankow

Shanghai, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Japanese army tonight reported new advances in its drive up the Yangtze river toward Hankow, Chinese provisional capital and immediate Japanese objective.

In a report on the week's fighting along the Honan-Anhwei provincial border, Japanese said Chinese suffered 10,000 casualties and that ragged, defeated survivors were retreating before continued strafing and bombing of invading aircraft.

Fred Bradley Defeats Sturgeon for Congress

Fred Bradley, Rogers City business man, won the Republican nomination for congressman from the Eleventh district by an almost two to one vote over Joseph A. Sturgeon, Gladstone newspaperman, in Tuesday's primary election. Bradley will oppose Congressman John Luecke of Escanaba, who had no opposition for renomination on the Democratic ticket.

Bradley piled up heavy majorities in the Lower Peninsula. Sturgeon made his best showing in his home county, Delta, where he led by a two to one margin.

Huge Alcohol Ring Nipped; 29 In Court At Superior, Wisc.

Superior, Wis., Sept. 13 (AP) — Eleven of 29 defendants charged with forming a corporation for the manufacture and sale of illicit alcohol in four states pleaded guilty when arraigned before Federal Judge Charles Woodward of Chicago here today.

Thirteen pleaded innocent and cases against the other five were dismissed.

Trial of the 13 was set for Sept. 27 before Judge Patrick T. Stone, who later will sentence those who pleaded guilty.

The men were charged with operating stills in Wisconsin during 1936 and 1937, producing alcohol and selling it in lots of 200 to 300 gallons in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and North Dakota.

Among those who pleaded guilty are Milton Ross, Carthage, Mo.; Henry Briske and Roy Brinkley, Chicago; Earl A. Blink and Donald Krembs, St. Paul, Minn.

HINES RETRIAL TO BE SPEEDED

Indictment of Tammany Leader Perfect, Says Attorney Dewey

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—The question which moved Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora to declare a mistrial for James J. Hines will be repeated by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey when the Tammany district leader stands trial again on charges he provided political protection for the Dutch Schultz policy racket.

Dewey's aides made this clear today as they emphasized their conviction that the district attorney had not erred legally in asking the 14-word question which Justice Pecora characterized as "fatally prejudicial" to Hines' fundamental rights.

Justice Pecora, recognizing that his decision had been criticised in some quarters, declared today a reversal would have resulted had the case gone to the jury and Hines been found guilty. The expense, he said, would have been greater in the case of a re-trial than in a mistrial.

Dewey himself said merely:

"Hines will be brought to justice. I will move for a new trial at the earliest possible date."

Dewey's aides said "the same or an identical indictment" would be used against Hines when he is brought to trial again, and Dewey himself defended the indictment as "perfect."

Reduction In WPA Rolls Is Predicted In Next Six Weeks

Lansing, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Works Progress Administration looked forward today to a 50 per cent reduction in work relief rolls in Michigan within the next six weeks.

Louis M. Nims, state WPA administrator, said prospects for revived industrial activity prompted his prediction of a 25 per cent drop in the load.

The administrator said the case load, which reached a peak of 203,113 two weeks ago, has declined to 200,224, the first reduction this year. He asserted a further drop of 5,000 next week was in prospect, reflecting a return of men to their jobs and the benefits of unemployment compensation.

He said he anticipated the case load would approximate 150,000 through the winter months. The peak load of the "first depression" never passed 101,500, he added.

LABRE, OLSEN NOMINEES IN DELTA COUNTY

LEGG WINS EASILY OVER ROSE FOR LEGISLATURE

Incumbents came through with flying colors in the Democratic primary yesterday, Representative Peter R. Legg winning handily over Henry A. Rose, former representative, Ralph R. Olsen more than tripling the count for treasurer over Charles Priester, local labor candidate, Leo Laviolette beating Albert Norden of Perkins for drain commissioner and Dr. O. S. Hult and Kevill Murphy being named coroner candidates over Walter Opolka and William J. Mileski.

Roosevelt Scolded By Hospital Nurse; Son Is Recovering

Rochester, Minn., Sept. 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt conferred today with Joseph Wolf, former Democratic national committeeman from Minnesota, after receiving assurance that his son, James, was recovering satisfactorily from a stomach operation.

The President called on James twice today. He arranged to make a final check on his son's condition tomorrow. If no complications have developed, the chief executive will leave shortly before noon tomorrow for the summer White House at Hyde Park, N. Y.

Steven Early, the president's press secretary, relayed to newsmen a story that the president had been scolded by a nurse at James' hospital.

Mr. Roosevelt, Early said, was talking with physicians just outside James' room. One of the doctors cracked a joke, and the president laughed. The nurse came from James' room and asked the chief executive to be quiet.

Mr. Roosevelt called off his regular Tuesday press conference. He had no comment on either the Maine and Maryland elections or the European situation.

This statement, authorized for quotation was given by the president:

"At this time, Minnesota is not a news source for events in Europe, Maryland or Maine."

JUDGE CONVICTS BRIDGES OF CIO

Secretary Perkins Wire of Criticism Called Contempt of Court

Los Angeles, Sept. 13 (AP)—Superior Judge Edward T. Bishop today convicted Harry Bridges, West Coast CIO director, of contempt of court in dispatching a telegram to Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins criticizing another jurist's decision in an AFL-CIO dispute.

Bridges was fined $125, or given the alternative of serving one day in jail for each $25 of the fine.

"I find no specific intent on the part of the defendant to use the telegram as a subterfuge to intimidate the court," Judge Bishop declared. "But I do believe the publicity resulting from it interfered with the orderly administration of justice, not because it influenced the judge but because it tended to embarrass and disturb the court."

A. L. Wirin, defense attorney, argued the message was not given out for publication by Bridges, but by a CIO press agent; that it was released to one newspaper and ultimately found its way into a publication read by Superior Judge Ruben S. Schmidt, who at that time was deliberating a motion for a new trial in a CIO-AFL dispute over control of San Pedro Longshoremen.

Judge Schmidt testified that publication of the telegram "embarrassed" him. The message referred to a receivership ruling as "outrageous" and mentioned the possibility of a tie-up of Los Angeles harbor.

Wisconsin To Try Sickness Insurance

Milwaukee, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Wisconsin state medical society's house of delegates today adopted committee reports recommending a trial of sickness insurance and establishment of a mutual insurance corporation under Wisconsin laws to administer a form of group hospitalization.

The society will appropriate several thousand dollars to conduct sickness insurance experiments and between $20,000 and $35,000 to finance the hospital insurance plan, it was announced.

Th proposals will be submitted to the convention proper of the state medical society, which begins tomorrow.

Couple Found Dead; Poisoning Indicated

Detroit, Sept. 13 (AP)—Police tonight found Mrs. Libby M. Renaud, 67, widow of Paul C. Renaud, Detroit alderman 25 years ago, and Joe Miller, 75 dead in the Renaud home. Patrolmen Claude Callaghan and Aaron Post broke into the house when called by neighbors who had not seen Mrs. Renaud or Miller since Saturday although an upstairs light was burning.

Investigation was under way to determine the cause of death which the patrolmen said appeared to have been either gas fumes or food poisoning. Miller had been employed to oversee Mrs. Renaud's properties

BIG OUTSTATE MARGIN GIVEN EX-GOVERNOR

SCHROEDER CROWDS NOWICKI; BENNETT IN ONTONAGON

Detroit, Sept. 14 (Wednesday) (AP)—With nearly half the outstate precincts reported, Former Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald appeared today to be increasing a lead of two to one he had received in early returns from the race for the Republican nomination for governor.

Fitzgerald competed in yesterday's primary with Harry S. Toy, former attorney general and Supreme Court justice, and Roscoe Conkling Fitch for the right to oppose Governor Murphy in November. Murphy was unopposed for renomination.

Wayne Returns Skimpy

Scattered returns from 1,393 outstate precincts gave Fitzgerald 167,770 votes, Toy 69,771 and Fitch 8,207 first returns from Wayne county augmented the former governor's lead, sixteen precincts giving him 948 votes to 749 for Toy, a hometown candidate.

The still scattered returns from outstate gave Fitzgerald 136,5566 votes, Toy 57,005 and Fitch 7,100 on the basis of 1,136 precincts reporting. Twelve scattered precincts, the first to report from Wayne county augmented Fitzgerald's lead.

Dickinson Beats Read

They gave Fitzgerald an additional 985 votes to 432 for Toy. Five Detroit precincts gave Fitzgerald 130, Toy, a home-town candidate, 127.

Outstate returns in from the races for the democratic and Republican nominations for lieutenant governor stood as fllows:

Democrats (1,538 Pcts)—Leo J. Nowicki, incumbent, 39,617; George A. Schroeder, 33,630.

1,3766 precincts out of 3,546 for Lieut. governor (Republican), Give:

Read 51,743
Dickinson 96,084
Fehling, 14,378
Moore, 16,740
Powers, 12,331
Barnaby, 11,754.

First Detroit returns whittled down Nowicki's lead. In five precincts he received 60 votes to 113 for Schroeder. Both candidates are Detroiters.

The same Detroit precincts gave Dickinson 72 votes and Read 63, with other candidates for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor trailing.

Fitzgerald maintained a lead as fragmentary Wayne county returns piled up. Fifty of 1,150 Wayne precincts gave him 3,088 votes to 2,372 for Toy.

These fifty precincts reduced the lead which Lieut Gov. Nowicki received 1,793 votes in the early Wayne county returns to 2,538 for Schroeder.

INCUMBENTS SAFE

Detroit, Sept. 14 (Wednesday) (AP)—Michigan members of congress appeared safely on the road to renomniation early today as returns from yesterday's primary were tabulated.

Scattered returns were available from all districts except those in Wayne county (Detroit).

Three Republican incumbents—Reps. Paul W. Shafer, Battle Creek, third district; Jesse P. Wolcott, Port Huron, seventh; and Albert J. Engel, Muskegon, ninth—and two Democrats—Reps. John Luecke, Escanaba, eleventh, and Frank E. Hook, Ironwood, twelfth—were unopposed.

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman, Allegan Republican, was walking away from his only opponent in the fourth district. Hoffman has been a bitter opponent of the Committee for Industrial Organization and the Townsend old-age pension plan.

JORDAN ELEVEN PLAYS ST. JOHNS

Three Escanaba Boys on Menominee College Aggregation

Menominee, Mich., Sept. 13—Approximately twenty-five Jordan Angels gridders are packing their grips in preparation for the opening game of the season which takes them to Collegeville, Minn., Saturday. The opposition will be the strong St. John's eleven.

For the past week and a half, Coach Marty Gharrity has been sending his squad, the most promising in three seasons, through heavy drills with an intermixture of chalk talks tossed in now and then. His task has been simplified a great deal through the aid of Assistant Coach Sam Kresky, who is doing a great job with the line.

The forward wall features such heavys as Jack Brassard at 195; Denis Menard, 200; Bob Salmon, 195; Orie Meyer, 195; Paul Kosbob, 245 and the squad's biggest candidate. Also at 211 is Walter Lappe, a new guard addition to the Angels, who broke into football at Menominee high in 1936.

Jordan has a new backfield threat in Jack Gilmore, 195, running half from Beloit, who should figure prominently in the Angel attack this season. Carl Steffin, Shawano representative and a neat end at the Menominee college last year, has been switched to the backfield and will probably get heavy duty in the ball-carrying department.

Escanabans Present

In Saturday's tilt, Jordan will be battling not only St. John's U. but additionally, the 1937 champions of their district in the Gopher state. The Minnesota eleven uses the Notre Dame system exclusively and much emphasis has been placed on this by the Angel mentor, Gharrity, in scrimmage play.

Although the Jordan Angels have an attractive looking schedule throughout the nearing season, the outstanding battle will be that in which Notre Dame's Junior Varsity provide opposition. The game is scheduled for October 2 at Lauerman Field, Marinette, and will be the first home game.

In their favor this season is a strong reserve squad, plenty of weight and speed, and enough backs for two teams. Such backfield men as Art Petersen of Escanaba, Carl Steffin of Shawano, Floyd Nerat of Menominee, Ernie Baumgarten of Shawano, Jack Gilmore of Beloit, Ed Wagner of Shawano, Don Dolan of Peshtigo, Pinky Burnell of Escanaba, Bill Heesaker of West DePere, should assure the team of an offense strong enough to cop with any opposition.

Line candidates are Ray Jorgensen of Cecil, Walter Uappe of Menominee, Tom Harvey of Escanaba, Paul Kosbob of Cecil, Jack Brassard of Merrill, Orie Meyer of Shawano, Eddie Hienz of Milwaukee, John Foster and Don Dolan of Peshtigo, Bob Salmon of Beloit, Joe Puhek of Calumet along with Roland Rades and Neil Druckrey.

Foster and Salmon have looked good as pass receivers at the wing positions. Foster nears six feet in height while Salmon goes at about six, three. Baumgarten and Gilmore have both been working on the throwing end and their work assures the Angels of a dangerous aerial attack. The latter pair mentioned have also been given punting assignments during scrimmage sessions.

Additionally aiding the Jordan gridders is the fact that the varsity is bound to have an evenly balanced array of veterans and newcomers, with a good-sized group of lettermen back.

State To Subsidize Children Guidance; Clinics Open Soon

Lansing, Sept. 13 (AP) — The state hospital commission said today it would launch shortly a program of state-subsidized child's guidance clinics—a new step in Michigan's crime and insanity prevention campaign.

Dr. Joseph E. Barrett, state hospital director, said an $11,000 grant from the Children's Fund of Michigan would finance the first clinic, to be established in Lansing. He said another would be opened in Saginaw within the year.

The program calls for joint state and community effort. Dr. Barrett explained he felt communities were prone to neglect such projects unless they had actual investments in them.

The Lansing staff will include a child's guidance psychiatrist and a psychologist. It will serve Ingham, Eaton and Clinton counties. The local government is to supply office space, and clerical and stenographic employees.

HELP STOMACH DIGEST FOOD

Without Laxatives—and You'll Eat Everything from Soup to Nuts

The stomach should digest two pounds of food daily. When you eat heavy, greasy, coarse or rich foods or when you are nervous, hurried or chew poorly—your stomach pours out too much fluid. Your food doesn't digest and you have gas, heartburn, nausea, pain or sour stomach. You feel sour, sick and upset all over.

Doctors say never take a laxative for stomach pain. It is dangerous and foolish. It takes those little black tablets called Bell-ans for Indigestion to make the excess stomach fluids harmless, relieve distress in 5 minutes and put you back on your feet. Relief is so quick it is amazing and one 25c package proves it. Ask for Bell-ans for Indigestion.

First Scrimmage For Crisler Crew Lasts 45 Minutes

BY GEORGE A. STAUTER

Ann Arbor, Sept. 13 (AP)—University of Michigan football candidates had their first taste of warfare today as Coach Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler sent his squad through a 45 minute scrimmage after a stiff two-hour workout on fundamentals.

In tackling practice Burgess Vial, 175 pound fullback from LaGrange, Ill. suffered a shoulder dislocation which is expected to keep him on the sidelines about two weeks.

Bright spots in the scrimmage were the play of Ed Christy and Wally Hook, fullback, and Paul Kromer, Norm Purucker and Tom Harmon, halfbacks.

Christy made repeated gains through the line and Hook also ripped off frequent gains. Christy is a junior from Gary, Ind., and Hook a senior from East Grand Rapids.

Harmon, Kromer and Purucker, the first sophomores and the latter a senior, made several long gains with Harmon contributing the longest run, a 40-yard touchdown gallop. One of the day's surprises was the shift of Forest Evashevski, 200 pound center, to quarterback because of his blocking ability. Evashevski had been regarded as a leading pivot candidate.

The Michigan coach said he looked toward another intra-squad game later in the week to obtain a further line on the makeup of the team for the opening game Oct. 1 against Michigan State.

Harry Mulholland, Bay City junior, dropped from the squad today.

REA LINE NOW IS COMPLETED

Homes Being Wired and Meters Installed In Rural Region

Construction of the rural electrification administration line in Delta and Alger counties has been completed, it was learned yesterday from C. E. Lewis, local representative of the project.

Crews of workmen have been employed the past few days in making connections with homes and hanging meters. This work is necessarily slow and will take some time to complete.

The project has been delayed considerably because of the usual red tape at the Washington offices of the administration. At present, the power contract has not yet been approved but it is expected that the Wisconsin Michigan Power Company of Iron Mountain will supply the power.

The Delta-Alger project will be joined with the Menominee county project later but this, too, is being delayed by Washington offices. An additional $260,000 recently was appropriated to take care of this Menominee area but there has been a delay in getting the work approved.

Moreland Hangs Up 146 At Oakland To Take Medal Honors

BY FRITZ HOWELL

Oakmont Country Club, Oakmont, Pa., Sept. 13 (AP)—Dark-haired Gus Turner Moreland's putter blazed again today in golfdom's front line trenches after an absence of four years, and the transplanted Texan snatched medal honors in the 442nd annual national amateur championship with a startling 146 for the 36-holes.

Moreland, now a 27-year-old Peoria, Ill., lithographer, tacked a 70—The only sub-par performance of the two days—to his first round 76 to take the medal by a two-stroke margin over a trio of favorites.

Back of Moreland the 64 qualifiers who start match play rounds Wednesday had scores reaching up to 160, seven of 11 players with that score getting in via the play-off route.

Two strokes back of Moreland at 148 were Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., leader of the Metropolitan district's qualifiers; Marvin Ward of Olympia, Wash., and Willie Turnesa of the famous New York links family.

The 149 spot was wide open, but three hot-shots clicked in at 150. They were Harry Givan, former Walker cupper from Seattle; Arthur Doering, jr., Chicago district champ, and veteran Eddie Held of

KruGon Showed Him Rapid Improvement

Enjoying Best Health in 20 Years; Indigestion Gone, Nerves Quieted; Dreadful Pains Yield Easily to KruGon

"For twenty years I had been needing just such a medicine as KruGon," said Mr. O. J. White, Rt. No. 1, Alton, Illinois. "Constipation and indigestion had "wrecked" my entire system filling it with poisons until my joints and muscles became affected. I was in almost constant pain often so severe I could hardly get about. I got little enjoyment from my meals for to eat meant only severe attacks of indigestion and bloating to me. I lost weight, became run-down, tried, worn-out and was so nervous I could hardly stand anything. All I knew was suffering and in spite of all I tried I only grew worse daily. It was all so discouraging and after being in this miserable condition for twenty years I had practically decided there was no hope for my stubborn condition but KruGon showed me different."

MR. O. J. WHITE

"I did not realize any medicine could make such a remarkable change in my health," continued Mr. White. "My stomach was regulated easily with this wonderful KruGon, constipation corrected and those years of accumulation of poisonous impurities have gone entirely. I now eat my meals without any discomfort afterwards. But best of all that miserable pain and suffering is gone, nerves quieted and it is simply wonderful to feel so well again. No wonder everyone seems to be "talking KruGon"—for it is one medicine deserving of its praise after what it has done for me."

KruGon is sold by West End Drug Store, 1221 Ludington St., this city.

Some Good Gained

ALL of this talk about the presidential party "purge" may be turning into something of a bore, but it ought to have one useful by-product; it is emphasizing anew the importance of the various state elections.

Although we do about as much talking about politics as any people alive, we Americans really don't pay a great deal of attention to it. Our four-year presidential contests are gaudy three-ring circuses, and so we give them a lot of our time. But between these elections we have a way of settling back and forgetting about politics, elections, candidates, and all the rest.

This works out beautifully for the politicians and the pressure groups and badly for everyone else.

One of the most obvious but little-understood facts of American politics is that all of these state elections are fundamentally more important than the presidential elections.

Presidents, after all must work through their Congresses; governor must work through their legislatures. And although a candidate for the presidency or for a governorship may expound a platform and stir up sentiment on an issue, in the end the fate of his platform and his issue will be settled by Congress and legislature. Men who were elected in contests that drew very little public attention are usually the final arbuters of state and national programs.

So a people that really wants its governing bodies to be fully responsive to public sentiment can never afford to let these off-year, local contests go by default. Unless it stays interested in them and searches out their hidden issues and sub-surface meanings with all the care it devotes to presidential elections, it is apt to find itself saddled with a great number of elected representatives who represent someone's selfish interest rather than the general good.

That is precisely what has been happening in this country for many a weary decade. It explains why lobbyists have such power at Washington and in the state capitals. It explains why political machines are able to keep their grip on certain regions despite perennial revelations of their corruption. It explains why Congress contains so many men who represent vested interests rather than the plain people.

In other words, we pay a very high price for our lazy habit of letting ordinary elections take care of themselves. And it is here — to repeat— that all of this talk about the "purge" may do us some good.

This talk helps to focus attention on the importance of these elections. It is a reminder that the citizen's responsibility is not simply a matter of going to the polls once in four years, but is a continuing thing which calls for an alert, unflagging interest and energy.

More Politics

STATE Senator James Dotsch of Garden, in an address at a Democratic rally Monday night, asserted he was in favor of civil service, but at the same time criticized the state conservation department, charging it was filled with "Republican refugees".

We get the idea. The senator believes in civil service if the Democrats hog the jobs.

Long before the state civil service law was enacted, the state conservation department had in operation a merit system, by which applicants for positions are selected according to how they scored in their examinations. If it is a fact that in one district the conservation department employs 41 Republicans and only one Democrat as Senator Dotsch charges, it only means that either the Republicans made better grades in the tests or else only a few Democrats took the examinations.

We believe no department in the state government can claim the distinction of being as free from party politics as the conservation division. Incidentally, it might be pointed out that the conservation commission has had as its chairman since its inception the well known and highly respected William H. Loutit of Grand Haven, who was a Democrat when many of the loud-talking New Dealers were voting Republican and some of them were running for office on that ticket.

Follows the Pattern

HOW dictators use propaganda to justify their unlawful seizures of other nation's territory is again being demonstrated in Europe.

Premier Mussolini showed the way when he seized Ethiopia after claiming that Italian nationalists had been attacked by soldiers of the now conquered country.

Adolf Hitler, in leading up to his annexation of Austria, also unloosed propaganda, designed to lead the world to believe that people of German attraction were being mistreated in that country.

And now the Fuehrer asserts in his Nurnberg grandstand act that German people in the Sudeten area of Czech-Slovakia must be a separate state and eventually a part of the Reich. For several weeks, we have been reading of Nazi charges of astrocities committed by the Czechs, the usual strategy employed by a dictator in efforts to expand his empire.

Hitler contends all people of German descent must eventually come under Nazi rule. By that line of reasoning, he might claim Milwaukee, Wis., some day.

Bad Break for Dewey

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE PECORA'S granting of a defense motion for a mistrial in the case of James J. Hines, Tammany leader, charged with complicity in the policy racket, is to be viewed as a serious setback to the courageous, hard-hitting District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey.

The justice gave as his reason for throwing out the sensational case the fact that the district attorney uttered a 14-word question, which intimated that Hines was also connected with New York's poultry racket. Pecora held Dewey had committed a "very serious and prejudicial error".

The justice, however, indicated he believed Hines should be brought to trial again, and District Attorney Dewey has let it be known that the people intend to retry the case.

The surprising development in the Hines trial will be disappointing to those who have envisaged District Attorney Dewey as likely Republican presidential timber. If he had won the Hines case, it was felt Dewey would have no difficulty in getting the Republican nomination for governor of New York this fall, a natural stepping stone to the presidential race in 1940. Now, it is unlikely the Hines case will be reopened until after the November election.

New York Republicans may want to nominate Dewey for the governorship, nevertheless. If he were elected governor, however, New York would lose a good prosecutor, something that is very essential, it would seem. Either way, the Tammanyites will find some cause for satisfaction.

World Affairs Reviewed

BY MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

London—Alwine Dollfuss, one of the most tragic figures of modern times, is living incognito in a small Welsh seaside village with her two children, Eva, 11 and Rudi, 7, biding her time until relatives and friends in America can arrange for her coming to the United States where she hopes to make her permanent home. With that in mind, she is busily studying English with her children.

Only a few years ago Frau Dollfuss seemed sitting on top of the world. Her husband, Engelbert Dollfuss, was the Chancellor and virtual ruler of Austria. Austria was still an independent country. It seemed to have weathered some of the worst storms. Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy was her husband's good friend. He was also apparently a good friend of Austria. Frau Dollfuss and her children and Signora Mussolini and young children holidayed together at the Italian seaside.

Then on July 25, 1934, occurred one of the worst crimes in European political history. A band of Austrian Nazis forced their way into the Chancellory in Vienna and shot down Dollfuss in cold blood. The dying man begged for a doctor's care. They refused him. He pled that a priest be sent for, so he could have the last religious consolation and communion. They turned deaf ears to him.

The murderers had hoped to capture the government and install their own regime. They were defeated by the Austrian army and many were captured. Otto Planetta, the ring-leader, was triad by court martial, found guilty and hanged as an assassin. He and another hanged with him cried "Heil Hitler" before the trap was sprung. Other conspirators were sent to prison. The rising in other parts of Austria was put down.

To make sure that the German Nazis would not march into Austria, Mussolini rushed 50,000 troops to the Brenner Pass. He used mighty words. He wept over Madame Dollfuss. He assured Austria of his protection. Despite abundant proof, Germany disavowed any connection with the abortive putsch, brought home its Minister from Vienna and later sent, instead, the crafty von Papen, always a bird of evil omen—the same West phalian Junker who, as Military Attache in the German Embassy in Washington, was up to his neck in plots against American neutrality during the World War.

* * *

Frau Dollfuss, bereft of her husband, nevertheless could live in peace in Austria, for the murdered man was succeeded by his friend and co-worker, Kurt von Schuschnigg. But that did not last for long. Last May Hitler marched his troops into Vienna. Mussolini, who had promised to protect Schuschnigg and Austrian independence, did neither. The Berlin-Rome axis was working full time. Frau Dollfuss saw all her husband's friends sent to jail or concentration camp. Schuschnigg was arrested and is to be tried by a special court set up by a special law and named especially by Hitler himself. The fact that his "crimes" were committed as head of an independent state, not then part of Naziland, is not deterring the Nazis. Before that same court they are going to bring the judges who tried and condemned the assassins of Frau Dollfuss' husband.

She herself only managed to escape from Austria with her children to Switzerland and England.

And now in Wales she has been reading what for her is the ultimate horror: Planetta, the executed criminal, has been erected into another hero in the Nazi calendar. His grave is to be a place of pious pilgrimage for good Nazis. There are to be Planetta squares and streets all over what was once Austria. Planetta thus takes his place in the Nazi Valhalla along with other murderers.

* * *

One of the first things the Nazis did, after they came into power in 1933, was to honor two sets of assassins—those who killed the Roman Catholic statesman, Matthias Erzberger, August 1921, and those who killed the Jewish statesman Walter Rathenau, June 1922. Erzberger for a time in the early days of the republic was Vice Chancellor. Rathenau during the World War had a position similar to that of Bernard Baruch in America — supreme head of the machinery for conserving necessary raw materials for war purposes. Later Rathenau was Foreign Minister under the republic.

LIBERALS AND CONSERVATIVES
(Christian Science Bonitor)

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT must have known he was daring greatly when he invaded Maryland. Free Staters, and particularly the variety which inhabit the eastern shore of Chesapeake Bay, have more than once demonstrated their self-reliant individualism. Even those who sincerely admire the courageous, progressive record of Representative Davis Lewis may be reluctant to accept him with a presidential indorsement as against Senator Millard Tydings, who is wearing presidential disapproval as a badge.

But possibly the President was daring even more when he ventured to define more pecisely than heretofore the difference between conservatism and liberalism as he sees it. The definitian was needed. But now, it seems to us, Mr. Roosevelt has voersimplified. We believe a fuller and sounder definition of "liberal" wil lbe found than willingnes to "give active study and active support to working out methods, in co-operation with Government," for solving the problems of today. Many a liberal fits Mr. Roosevelt's definition of conservative, in believing that "improvement should cmoe from individual initiative or local initiative without the help of Government," if that Government be interpreted only as the Federal Government and if its help be tied up with an al-inclusive bureaucracy or with methods that undermine constitutional guarantees, national financial integrity and individual self-reliance.

"Working out methods for many liberals means sometimes disagreeing over methods. It means opposing a plan for remaking the Supreme Court; it means going slow on an admittedly necessary extension of federal power in the regulation of the nation's economic and industrial system; it means questioning methods and costs even in matters like flood control and soil conservation. It means independent judgment about labor and social security legislation and insistence on active steps to perfect measures now in force.

Liberalism of this type means deep distrust of a system of governmental largesse which can be manipulated for political ends. It leaves plenty of room for demands that relief shall be taken out of politics. This kind of liberalism dares to question such use of federal patronage as is even now being exercised to defeat Senator Tydings because he has questioned methods of the Administration.

It is quite true that many conservatives have opposed Mr. Roosevelt's purposes in the guise of merely opposing methods. But until it is clearly evident that the action of government is sound as well as well-intentioned and that in releasing the citizen from economic tyranny federal controls do not place him under greater political tyranny, there is need for the kind of liberals who will say, "Yes, but." If Mr. Roosevelt draws a circle which includes only himself and those who always agree with his methods, he will leave out a lot of liberals.

DUMPING
(Emporia Gazette)

IN order to improve the price of wheat in America, the government of the United States, under the leadership of the Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, is considering the policy of dumping a large portion of the crop on other countries. He will dump this wheat at a loss, sell it for even less than the four-bit Kansas price. But he will take it off the American market and improve the Kansas four-bit price.

From a temporary American standpoint, his policy seems wise. In the long run it is dangerous. The farmers of other countries, also, have the ballot as our farmers have. They will hate America for dumping cheap wheat on their markets and their resentment will take political form. That form will be finally a policy of unfair discrimination against America. It will be harder for Secretary of State Hull to work out a policy of equitable exchange of commodities which is a long run policy and which, if it is wisely administered, will do much to balance American trade.

But the election is near. The farmers are mad. And a new deal statesman is not to be too sadly blamed if he grabs whatever weapon the Lord has put in his hand to stop the agrarian revolt. Dumping is such a weapon but it is a two-edged sword with a seven-mule kick.

MORALS IN PRIMARIES
(Providence Journal)

Mr. Roosevelt is right, in theory, in condemning the practice of Republican voters in participating in Democratic primaries, but the primary election, like so many other instruments of representative government, has rarely fared well at the hands of the politicians. The President himself has violated the most fundamental principle of representative government—the free exercise of the constitutional right of suffrage—and has done so by using the prodigious prestige and power of his office to dictate the choice of men to represent a sovereign people in the United States Senate.

This is just as politically immortal, if, indeed, it is not more so, as the practice of voters of one party crossing political lines into the primary of another party for the single purpose of defeating a particular individual.

Q. Please give some information on the origin and development of the cattalo. J. M. H.

A. Natural History says: A cattalo is bred from domestic cattle and buffalo. The name cattalo was given by "Buffalo" (Col. C. J.) Jones to hybrids between bison bull and domestic cow, which he had in Dodge City, Kansas. However, before 1843 near Lexington, Kentucky, such crosses were made by a Mr. Wickliffe, who kept the hybrids through several generations at least 20 years, according to a report in Audubon and Bachman. Recently this type of animal has been developed at the experimental station near Wainwright, Alberta, where 30 of the creatures now roam on pasture. The purpose of the Canadian government is to produce a sturdy type of cattle for farmers in the northern agricultural districts of the Canadian west, where ordinary cattle could not stand the cold or find their own forage in winter. The hide resembles that of the buffalo, with thick, durable hair; the meat is said to have all the qualities of beef cattle.

New York Column

BY GEORGE ROSS

New York—Our idea of a two-fisted magazine is Down Beat, a gazette published monthly for the music world. When we browse through a copy, we feel immersed in the gore of battle, though music and the news thereof generally is supposed to soothe the savage breast.

For example, here's the latest copy. Someone has called Abe Lyman's band "corny." "Thanks," says Mr. Lyman, "most successful bands are 'corny.'" A Down-Beat correspondent has gone to hear Sally Clark, whose sister married John Roosevelt recently, make her singing debut in a night club. Does he mince words about how he feels? Not at all. This is what he says: "Know what I think about Miss Clark? The simple truth of the matter is that she is no singer." Blunt, no?

On Pages 4 and 5, Downbeat plays host to a flaming row between a fellow called Jelly Roll Morton who says he is the "world's greatest hot tune writer" and W. C. Handy, reputedly the father of the "blues." Seems that Jelly Roll argues he heard the "blues" long before Handy was in sight. So how does Mr. Handy retort on Page 5? As follows: "Jelly Roll's attack is the act of a crazy man." That'll mow him down.

Nor are there signs of a truce on Page 7, because there a fellow is quarreling that Red Nichols did more for swing than the late "Bix" Beiderbecke ever did, even though the complainant is lonely in that opinion.

The fights continue in this wise for 31 pages in Down Beat's current issue. Now we understand why the public brawls along Tin Pan Alley are more considerable than those of the soap-box orators in Columbus Circle.

Alan Prescott, the radio jester, was chatting the other day with Oscar Levant, the Manhattan man-about-town. Levant told the group that he had just left Geo. S. Kaufman in a particularly despondent mood. "Uh, huh," agreed the comic, "I can understand Kaufman's blue funk. The poor chap seems doomed to success!"

Cinema Guinea Pigs

We always were under the impression that the Hollywood phenomenon called the "Sneak Preview" was native only to Southern California. But we've learned differently. The "Sneak Preview," should you happen to be unaware of commonest film tactics, usually takes place in a town not far from where the studios are located. The local little movie house is minding its own business, showing the films that is advertised on the marquee signs. Then, suddenly, an excited corps of Hollywoodians storms into the auditorium and on the screen is flashed a film that the audience isn't even paying for. The idea is to catch an audience off its guard and find out what it thinks of the studio's latest effort.

Making a political promise is like eating a potato pancake. You never know when it's going to come back and haunt you.
—Representative George G. Sadowski of Michigan.

I would keep this reserve free from missionaries, prospectors, and mounted police.

The Capital Parade

BY ALSOP AND KINTNER

Washington, Sept. 13.—For Adolf Hitler, playing with the notion of plunging the world into war, there is an agreeable lesson in two controversies now plaguing Washington. Both concern sums of money offered to the state by prite individuals. Oddly enough, the argument is not whether the funds shall be used to buy cannons or surplus fats, but to which learned purpose they shall be dedicated.

When half the peoples of the West seem bent on destroying the stored-up riches of their culture, it is pleasant to think that there are still men who only wish to add to that glorious store.

—PRESIDENTIAL PAPERS—

The funds in question are somewhat different in origin. One is the $100,000, or thereabouts, paid the President for publication of the record of his press conferences and the notes to his state papers. And the other is the personal fortune of Oliver Wendell Holmes, which, as the last action of a noble life, he left to the country he loved.

Last winter, the President promised his money would be used for some useful public end. Since then, no more has been heard of the matter, except the jibes of the Republicans, who are apparently willing to think the President of the United States is capable of pocketing cash he has said he wouldn't pocket.

Nevertheless, several suggestions have been carefully considered. The one which would seem most likely to catch the presidential fancy is to use the fund to establish a repository for his predecessors', his own and his successors' private and official documents. It would be used to preserve and make them available to students.

Moreover, there is a crying need for some such repository. Each president leaves the White House with all the strange loot of his term of office, from amateur statues of himself in saint's custume to handsome presents from foreign governments. He also takes his papers. History can stand the loss of the bric-a-brac, but the papers of any president of the United States are vital fragments in the mosaic of his times. Without them, the story of his term of service must always remain incomplete.

As the suggestion has been made, the President would apply to Congress to have his money set aside for the repository, along with such additional provision as might be necessary. The storehouse might be located at one of the National Shrines, like Monticello, or it might be thought more convenient to scholars merely to establish a branch of the congressional library or the national archives. The important thing would be to establish a precedent, by which all presidential papers would eventually find their way to the proposed storehouse.

—HOLMES MEMORIAL—

The President's money has occasioned no great excitements. Justice Holmes' bequest, however, has started a feud between the congressional library and a group of Holmes admirers in the executive branch.

The bequest consists of Holmes' Washington house, where he lived out his great years among his books, and some $240,000 additional. The congressional library, always in need of money, wants to use the whole bequest as a trust fund with which to buy new volumes on the law. So far, the Holmes admirers, who are led by a group of his former secretaries, have blocked the library's attempt.

These men have known the savor of Holmes' personality, and to them it is inconceivable that he should leave no tangible memorial behind. They would like to preserve his home as a Shrine, and to endow it as a haven for young students of government, who might live there cheaply, in the same rooms which housed the best man of his age. Curiously enough, considerable venom has been engendered between the proponents of the two schemes, yet there is something wonderfully reassuring in the thought that, in days like these, vendom can be engendered in such fashion.

Friends of the defendant, after considering some of the prosecution's witnesses in the Hines' trial in New York, are comforting themselves with the sold saying: Too many crooks spoil the soup.

After a little mediation on the elaborate knavery political candidates have been charging each other with, it becomes suddenly clear; the war scare in Europe is just somebody's red herring.

A California couple set out on a honeymoon by roller skate the other day. They'll probably come down to earth quicker than most.

Lyrics of Life

By Douglas Malloch

UP AND DOWN

I met a fellow on the hill,
A fellow comin' down,
For I preferred the whip-poor-will
And he preferred the town.
And I ain't sayin' he was wrong
Or sayin' I was right,
For some prefer an evenin' song
And some a merry night.

I try to never be the sort
To criticize the rest,
And if a fellow likes his sport
Then sport is likely best.
I try to let a fellow live
The way he may incline,
And let him follow his way, if
He lets me follow mine.

I don't say I've got better sense,
Got all the sense there is;
I follow my experience,
And let him follow his.
But, thinkin' of the brimmin' cup
And other things in town,
I'm glad that I was goin' up
Though he was goin' down.

First Pastor Will Speak at Golden Jubilee

The first pastor of the Swedish Mission church, Rev. M. J. Eggan, whose ministry here began in 1888, the year of the organization of the church, and Rev. Carl A. Hognander, who served the church in later years, will be guest speakers at the church's Golden Jubilee which will be celebrated the last of the month, September 20 to 25.

Rev. Eggan, who is now in Lockport, Ill., where he is pastor of the Covenant church, was the first pastor to serve the newly organized congregation. At that time he was located in Ishpeming, and had not as yet entered any seminary, but with his exceptional talent, was already an active speaker in this part of the peninsula.

Rev. Hognander, who served the church during the years 1910-1912, at present is pastor of one of the largest and most active Covenant churches in the denomination, located in Minneapolis.

A general invitation to join the congregation here in the fiftieth anniversary observance has been extended by Rev. William Hultman, present pastor, to all friends of the church in the city and in other communities.

State Parks Will Close on Sept. 30

Lansing—A few of the smaller state parks will close for 1938 this week with others scheduled to complete their season Sept. 30.

In accordance with the policy that the state parks division of the department of conservation has followed in recent years, only the small, inland parks which have comparatively small attendance and are not along tourist traffic routes are closed first. The more heavily patronized parks and the so-called "hay fever" parks on the lakes are usually kept open until Oct. 15, unless a stringency of finances compels their closing earlier. The parks division, granted an emergency appropriation by the administrative board several weeks ago, will this year be able to maintain a few of the larger parks until the Oct. 15 date.

WE, the WOMEN

BY RUTH MILLETT

With all the women in the country getting that upswept look, or counting the weeks until they will be able to manage it, it's time someone sounded a few warnings.

The feminity of curls piled high on top of heads will make a ridiculous contrast with:

Hard faces, or mouths that pull down at the corners.

Brisk efficiency that shouts, "I can take care of myself."

The stride that flat-heeled shoes produce.

Swearing.

Loud laughing and loud talking.

Telling or listening avidly to questionable stories.

Talking business after hours.

The abandon of a jitterbug.

The blank look that comes after too many drinks.

Leaning on a bar.

Grabbing the center of the stage and holding it against all comers.

Chewing gum.

Necking in public.

Slouchiness.

Trying to be "one of the boys."

Too much frankness.

Bawling out waitresses and salesgirls.

The "I'm a successful woman" attitude.

Despising out loud the feminine accomplishments.

Lack of sympathy.

Brittle, wise-cracking conversation.

* * *

Living up to the femininity of piled-high curls may prove to be a harder job than keeping the curls up. And that is something for us women to think about.

Women take a savage delight in spoiling the pleasures of men. Men enjoyed their barber shops. So women, marched in and took them over.

Men created golf courses as masculine retreats, from which they could go home with great tales about "and then I sank a putt from the edge of the green and got a three to Johnny's five." But women followed men to the golf courses and found out what duffers most of them are.

Men would sneak off for hours alone in a bar—at least alone so far as "nice women" were concerned. But the nicest women started leaning their elbows on bars.

Men built up a kind of glamour about their "nights out"—until women demanded the same right and found out for themselves what a hollow privilege it was.

Still men reserved the right to cut loose when they are far away from home, wife, and friends.

But a wife in South Australia has found a way to spoil even that unholy masculine pleasure.

* * *

She sent her husband to London with her written permission to have fun—ending "I furthermore permit him to keep and enjoy the company of any lady he sees fit, as I know he is a good judge. I want him to back horses and enjoy life in this world, for he will be a long time dead."

How in the world are men going to keep on feeling like devils if their wives say "Go ahead, my angel, have fun!"

Club Sponsoring Art Exhibition Last of Month

An exhibition of prints by the Chicago Artists Group, an organization of the foremost artists of Chicago brought together to devise a means whereby the public may purchase original works of art at popular prices, and thus restore print-making to its traditional place in art life of the American people, will be sponsored in Escanaba September 27 through October 1, by the Escanaba Woman's club, it was announced yesterday.

The exhibit, which will be one of water colors, etchings, lithographs and woodcuts, the first original, and the following three limited and signed, will be hung in a gallery on the third floor of the Fair Store.

Miss Charlotte Marble, under whose sponsorship a successful exhibition was held several years ago, is supervising arrangements, which are being made by special committees of club women, who, in groups, will act as hostesses each day.

The exhibition will present the works of the following well known artists:

Bernece Berkman, Edgar Britton, Margaret Britton, John Cadel, Julio de Diego, Todios Geller, Carl Hoeckner, Murray Jones, George Josimovich, Edward Millman, Ceil Rosenberg, Henry Simon, Mitchell Sejorin, John F. Stenwall, Morris Topchevsky, Ardian Troy, Joseph Vavak, Eric Lundgren, who is art editor of Esquire, Frances Strain and Fred Biesel.

Further details of the exhibition which is among events of major interest in Escanaba this fall will be announced later.

HOUSECOATS REMAIN SIMPLE, FLOWING

Fall housecoats cling to simple flowing lines and depend for the most part on material for distinction. If it's a glamorous mood you wish to court, consider a regal housecoat of reptile print velveteen in blended tones from black to pale gray, lined with vivid cerise, emerald or royal blue. The elbow-length sleeves are voluminous, the wide crushed belt of colored snakeskin matches the lining of the robe. Much less expensive and more utilitarian is one of spun rayon in an old-fashioned challis print. The college girl will probably prefer a flowing robe of soft quilted cotton in quaint print on a dark background with bright contrasting lining.

EBON EVENING

Paris (AP)—An evening corsage covered with shiny black beads extends in points down over the hip where it meets a skirt of fan-pleated black chiffon. The ebon effect is relieved by bouquets of white enameled flowers centered with rhinestones, one worn on the bodice, the other cresting the hair.

EDWARD DOAK PASSES AWAY

Operated Cloverland Business College In Escanaba

Edward W. Doak, for many years head of the commercial department of Escanaba high school, and later owner of Cloverland Commercial college of this city, died on September 4, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Stonehouse, the former Fern Doak, in East Tawas, Mich. He had been seriously ill for six months.

The family, widely known in this city, left Escanaba in June 1922, after about sixteen years residence here.

The following account of Mr. Doak's death, in the East Tawas press follows:

"Funeral services for Edward Doak, who died Sunday at the home of his daughter in East Tawas, were held Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Methodist church with Rev. J. W. LeVan, of Standish, officiating. Burial was in the Greenwood cemtery.

"Mr. Doak was 60 years old. He was born near Ovid, Michigan, on July 31, 1878. Following his graduation from Ferris Institute, Mr. Doak taught commercial work in various high schools and business colleges in the state.

"In 1933, when J. K. Osgerby was superintendent of the East Tawas high school he engaged Mr. Doak to come to East Tawas and establish a commercial department in the school. Prior to that time, Mr. Doak had established his own business college at Escanaba in the Upper Peninsula. Mr. Doak organized the commercial department at the East Tawas high school and also taught manual training. Later, he left East Tawas to teach a year at the Bay City Junior College. Following this, he returned to take up his teaching duties again at East Tawas. He taught 10 years in all in the East Tawas high school. Mr. Osgerby related.

"Mr. Doak's wife died six years ago. Seven children survive Mr. Doak. They are: Mrs. William Stonehouse, Mrs. Rua Fairfield, Miss Marjorie June Doak, and Edward Doak, all of East Tawas; Miss Lois Doak, of Davison; Gene Doak, of Lansing; and Cleo Doak, of New Orleans, Louisiana.

Two brothers and a sister also survive Mr. Doak. They are: Mrs. Sam Brodbeck, of Dewitt; Ray Doak, of Lansing; and Charles Doak, of Detroit."

The Indians believed the soul left the body through the mouth and that an Indian who died of strangulation would be cut off forever from the happy hunting grounds.

Main Street

Interesting Items of Day Picked Up Around Town

Rumors fly fast on Main street. Yesterday morning there was a story about town that someone had been overcome by gas at a hotel on Ludington street. Investigation revealed that hundreds had been overcome—but they were cockroaches in a hotel which had hired a Detroit exterminating agency to fumigate.

A deadly gas is used by the exterminator, who is now working in the Upper Peninsula for the first time. Windows and doors of the establishment are all locked from the inside by the operator, who insists that the proprietor surrender all keys to the building before the extermination begins. After he is certain that nobody can get into the building, the exterminator liberates the gas and then takes up his post at the front door to make certain that nobody enters the premises.

Charles N. Holm, 78, Dies in Menominee

Menominee—Charles N. Holm, 78, veteran Menominee harness maker, died at 9:20 a. m. Monday in his home, 605 Kirby street, after a long illness.

Mr. Holm was born in Denmark August 9, 1861, and was the last surviving member of a family of 19 children. He spent his early life in Denmark where he learned his trade as a harness maker, and came to Menominee in 1882. For 25 years Mr. Holm worked for the Kirby-Carpenter company, and later for the Bay Shore Lumber company at Soperton, the Isaac Stephenson company at Wells, the Holt and Oconto Lumber companies at Oconto and the J. W. Wells and Spies Thompson Lumber companies here.

After retiring from active duty with the above companies he opened a harness shop on the corner of Sheridan road and Eveland Court which he conducted for a number of years.

July 19, 1885, Mr. Holm married Miss Bertha Westerdahl in this city. The couple celebrated their 53rd wedding anniversary this year.

Survivors are his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Henry Nelson (Ingaborg) and Mrs. George Dumouchelle (Ella), and one son, Lars Holm, all of this city.

Mr. Holm was well and favorably known in this city where he had lived for 56 years. He was a member of the Maccabees.

Funeral services are to be read Wednesday at 10 a. m. in the Roy Cadieu Mortuary chapel by Rev. Robert H. Hannum. Burial will be made in Riverside cemetery.

The body of Mr. Holm will lie in state in the chapel from 3:30 p. m. Tuesday until the funeral hour.

France and other parts of western Europe receive less rain than the eastern United States, but, since the showers are lighter and more frequent, less water is lost by draining than in this country, where more sunny days and harder rains are more common.

WORK ON FIRE HALL TO START

Slight Decrease Noted In Delta County WPA Rolls

Work on extensive remodeling of the north Escanaba fire hall will begin on Monday with 14 men employed on the project, it was learned yesterday from J. H. Stephens.

The government's contribution to the project is $7,792, while the city is supplying $3,444. Work will include extensive renovation of the second floor as well as repairs on the ground floor.

Stephens said yesterday that the WPA roll in the county this week is 2,641, a slight reduction over previous reports.

Street improvement projects within the city of Escanaba will be completed today and, because of lack of approval on further projects, approximately 125 men will be transferred to the county line.

Work will be resumed today on the Nahma school with 25 men employed. The federal government is contributing $13,933 toward the project while the sponsors' share is $7,882.

Two other projects will start in the city, grading of the south portion of the airport and completion of the city sign post job. Forty men will be employed on the airport job.

Safe Anchorage Is Provided by Wells At Shore Of Basin

Safe, convenient anchorage for local craft is being provided by a series of boat wells, which are now under construction along the shore of the Escanaba Yacht basin south of the harbor dock. Five of the wells are already completed and occupied and several more are to be built.

The boat wells provide small, individual slips into which each boat is placed. Similar wells are used by metropolitan yacht clubs at Chicago, Miami and San Francisco. Lined up along the shore, the vessels are readily accessible to their owners who are saved the bother of rowing out to a buoy anchorage far from the shore. A rental fee is paid to the city for the use of the boat wells.

LINDA GORDON—heroine. She gave up Manhattan to return to her Blue Grass.

BRUCE RADFORD — newspaper man. He would give up anything for Linda.

UNCLE SANDY—horseman. He would give up anything, too, for a good horse.

MONTE HILL—rich racing devotee. He also wanted Linda.

* * *

Yesterday: Linda buys full interest in the Pompey Colt and then goes to the Downs to see her uncle put the horse into action. He tells her she is just in time to see Tom Cartwright.

CHAPTER XIV

A tubby little fellow of middling years came around the corner. Smiling Tom Cartwright. A good jockey in youth, he was now one of America's shrewd trainers; campaigning a stable for a millionaire who insisted on having stake winners in his barn. He had won two Derbies for his owner; now he was planning, half a year ahead, to win a third.

"Evening, folks," he said, stopping at the tack room door. "This the young owner?" He touched a broad-brimmed hat. "Glad to know you, Miss. I've got news. Talkin' cash tonight—"

"What's this?" Linda looked from Smiling Tom to Uncle Sandy.

"Tom, here, is tryin' to take a option on Golden Toy," Sandy Gordon explained. "He knows a colt that wins the Jockey Club Stakes in the fall is a sure Derby winner next spring—"

"Not always, Sandy," Cartwright shook his smiling face.

"Huh! There was Reigh Count, Clyde Van Dusen, Twenty Grand—a passel of 'em. If the Toy wins, Tom wants to buy him for a measley fifteen thousand—"

"Twelve, I said, Sandy. If he wins. Here's two hundred, option money." He held up the bills.

"Mr. Cartwright, you take an option on every good colt in the Stakes, don't you?" Linda asked. "Get a jump on other wealthy buyers, who haven't developed a good 2-year-old?"

"Now, ma'am," he turned to her. The eternal smile creased his wind-worn cheeks; but his gray eyes were gimlet-hard. "I sort of like the colt—"

"So do others." Linda was all business. "Uncle doesn't know it—I just got here a moment ago—but I have a flat offer of sixteen thousand, and a filly thrown in to boot for Golden Toy. If he wins. Can you top that? If not, no use talking."

It was a lie, a monstrous lie. No, Linda told herself, it was just horse-trading. Greek meeting Greek.

Smiling Tom lifted his hat, rubbed his bald pate, looked at Sandy Gordon. "And I thought I was a horse-trader, Sandy." He shook his head, but still smiled.

"Mr. Cartwright doesn't want to trade; I'll drive into town, give an option, Uncle—" With swift steps she reached her car. Jumped in. "See you tonight, Uncle Sandy." She threw on the self-starter, stepped on the gas, started off.

"Heh!" Smiling Tom ran after her. She stopped. "Yes?"

"Wait a minute, Miss." Cartwright put a foot on the running-board. "Now, if you'll listen to reason—"

* * *

Ten minutes later Smiling Tom waddled off, an option in his pocket, calling for the purchase of the colt for $17,500—if he won the Jockey Club Stakes. No purchase if he was beaten a whisker, even. Linda had not two, but five hundred dollars option money.

"Here's fifty expenses, Uncle Sandy. Remember, the owner holds the cash."

Uncle Sandy said nothing for a moment; but pocketed the money. Then, "Well, I'm darned!"

"Callie and I have taken a cottage; guess you'll prefer to sleep in the tack room, eat in one of the track kitchens?"

He would; racing was the breath of life to him. Never mind dainty rooms and fancy meals—

"An' Norman, he sleeps in the feed room. We're fixed up great."

"Fine! Be seeing you every day." As she drove off, Callie sitting beside her, Norman crept from behind the stables—

By 8 o'clock Callie had the furnished cottage in order; Linda's typewriter keys were clacking when someone knocked on the door. Who was that? If it was a garrulous neighbor—

"Bruce!" she exclaimed, as she threw the door back. "How'd you find me?"

"I see Mr. Sandy every day or so. Here—take a look." He gave her a manila envelope. "Open—read." She glanced from the envelope to Bruce. This was a different Bruce, a more determined Bruce than she had ever known. "All right—sit down."

She opened the envelope. Drew out galley-proofs of a short story. Bruce said: "Sold that last month—wanted to surprise you, so didn't mention it."

Linda's eyes swept through the lines. She looked up. "You rascal! You've put Uncle Sandy in this; he's the whole show!"

Bruce grinned. "No, just a composite of the Uncle Sandys in the Blue Grass. About time for a new character in light fiction: like Ephraim Tutt, or Tugboat Annie, or old Judge Priest—only different." He sobered. "They want more."

"Bruce, this is great! Sell it yourself?"

He shook his head. "Remember my agents—those two young women in New York?" She nodded. "Best in the business. They've been fooling with me—oh, for years." It was true, Linda recalled. "Haven't made a nickel on me. Don't see why they haven't thrown me over. So—being a bit ashamed, I went to work."

He got up, took the proofs from her. "Got to go—correct these tonight. May out another one. Be seeing you." He smiled—and was out the door without another word. Linda stood still a moment. Heard his footsteps die out. A catch came in her throat—

She shook her head. "None o' that, m'girl," she told herself grimly; sat down at the typewriter again, began pounding the keys.

* * *

Four days later Uncle Sandy asked, "Read the entries this morning?"

No, she hadn't. She, too, was busy writing. The old horseman sniffed. "And you the owner! Golden Toy—I dropped him into a condition race this afternoon. Six furlongs."

"Why—why didn't you tell me you were going to? I thought you had decided to hold him back for the Stakes?"

"He needs educatin'; you be in the paddock at 4 o'clock."

And at 4 o'clock Norman led the blanketed colt into the enclosure. The saddle bell rang; valets trooped in with their jockeys' tack. Norman brought the colt up; Uncle Sandy skillfully saddled him. Then jockeys—the sun flashing on their silks—came down the tanbark path. Said the trainer: "I got Marder ridin'—best boy there be for handlin' a green 2-year-old."

A jockey in the scarlet jacket, purple cross sashes and sleeves of the Gordon colors stopped at their stall. He had the build of a stripling, the face of a matured man. "Listen to me, Marder," Uncle Sandy was giving last-minute instructions; "this here colt has early foot—and he's a stayer. Get out in front—push him—make every post a winnin' one. Understand?"

Marder, who had ridden a thousand horses to victory, nodded; said nothing. Chewed gum as if unconcerned. The bugle sounded the call to the post. The jockey grasped the reins with one hand his saddle with the other. "Up you go!" Uncle Sandy threw him up. The horses paraded out.

Linda, her nerves a-jangle, went with Uncle Sandy into the infield, to watch the race closely. "If there ain't no post delay—" the trainer muttered. Then—

"They're off!"

* * *

The shout went up from the stands as the field shot out from the starting-gate. "Durn if he didn't get out in front," Uncle Sandy said, as a great golden animal, ridden by a jockey in scarlet and purple, streaked ahead of the pack. "He's opened daylight—yes, sir, we got a right good colt." Uncle Sandy spoke judicially. "Now they comin' to the turn—he's opening up more daylight—

"Whoa, there!" the trainer shouted excitedly. His trained eyes saw it first. Now Linda saw—and her heart seemed to stop. Golden Toy was running wide coming into the stretch—running to the outside fence—Marder was fighting him—

"Oh, shucks!" Uncle Sandy exclaimed. "Come on—race is over for us." But it wasn't—quite. The colt lost a half a dozen lengths on the run-out; but Marder, speeding him along the tow-path by the outer rail, managed to finish third.

The disappointed crowd—Golden Toy had been heavily played—hissed and booed as Marder rode back to weigh out. Uncle Sandy took Linda's arm. "Don't worry, honey—the crowd's always a fool," he said.

Marder slid from the colt, jerked the saddle off, weighed out, then came to Uncle Sandy as a disgruntled Norman blanketed the colt and led him away.

"What happened, son?" Uncle Sandy asked.

Marder took a deep breath. Said: "Awful sorry, boss—but I couldn't help it. We was three-quarters around the turn—I was holding him steady, then, like a flash o' lightnin', he shot to the rail."

Uncle Sandy nodded. Repeated the track's oldest phrase, "Better luck next time." Then, "I want you for the Stakes, son. We'll break him of that." The trainer started back to the stable, to cool out the colt. Linda went through the gate onto the clubhouse lawn. And almost ran into Monte Hill's arms.

"Linda! I just shipped in from New York! Been looking for you; then I saw the Toy entered. Knew I'd find you at the finish. Come on—I've got something important to tell you."

ATTENDANCE AT SPRING SLUMPS

Total of About 50,000 Persons Recorded for 1938

A decrease in attendance at Kitch-iti-kippi Spring for the season of 1938, as compared with last year, is indicated as the official season draws to a close.

There were 63,000 visitors at the spring last year, whereas to date slightly less than 50,000 have visited the park this year. The "official" season is generally considered to be the time during which a caretaker is assigned to the park, the season extending from Memorial Day to October 1.

That the attendance will exceed 50,000 is expected, but it is unlikely that last year's record of 63,000 will be approached.

A general decline in tourist movement was indicated generally throughout the upper peninsula this year, as a result of a sharp slump in economic conditions. Most resort operators reported a falling off in attendance.

Palms-Book State Park, site of the Big Spring, is open the year around and hundreds of visitors are attracted to the wonder spot in the winter, as well as in the summer. There is no caretaker in charge during the winter season, however, and no effort is made to record the number of visitors after the caretaker's quarters are closed for the season.

The spring remains a constant temperature of 40 degrees both winter and summer, and consequently does not freeze in the cold weather.

Charles Niggeman has returned from Beaverton, Mich where he spent his vacation at the home of his parents.

LYCEUM SERIES PLANNED HERE

Six Programs Will Be Offered at High School

The Manistique Students Association will again present a series of six outstanding lyceum numbers at the Manistique school during the school year, it was announced yesterday by Principal Carl Olson.

There will be three evening presentations and three presented during school hours. All will be available to the public, however. A campaign for advance ticket sale will be conducted, it also was announced.

The first presentation will be "Microcosmo," to be offered Sept. 22, at three p. m. This features the projection of microsopic slides on a large screen, showing minute animal and insect life and numerous other interesting objects. A lecturer accompanies the slides and explains the pictures. This is considered a highly educational presentation.

On October 20 the Bohemian Glass Blowers will be presented at an evening performance. This group of talented artists display modern glass blowing, and the manufacture of small animals, birds and flowers from glass.

Dr. Arthur Carpenter, astronomist, will be here November 3, at nine a. m. and will deliver an interesting lecture, "The World and Universe We Live In."

In the evening of December 5, the Alabama Jubilee Singers will present a musical program, including the signing of negro spirituals and old plantation songs. This is a colored group whose repertoire is similar to the Mississippian Singers, who appeared here last season.

"Spooks and Frauds" is the eerie title of the fifth lyceum number. This program will be presented Feb. 1 at an evening performance, and features Prof. H. L. Tarman. The program debunks spirits and shows how the public is defrauded through the medium of seances, ghosts, etc.

Concluding the series will be the Matthews Family, a group of youngsters in a musical and dancing program that is cordially received everywhere.

The company complained that it was not given a "full and fair" hearing of CIO charges in the Long Beach case. It asserted that the examiner was "prejudiced" and questioned witnesses with a view to "eliciting testimony unfavorable to the company.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

LINDA GORDON—heroine. She gave up Manhattan to return to her Blue Grass.

BRUCE RADFORD — newspaper man. He would give up anything for Linda.

UNCLE SANDY—horseman. He would give up anything, too, for a good horse.

MONTE HILL—rich racing devotee. He also wanted Linda.

* * *

Yesterday: Linda buys full interest in the Pompey Colt and then goes to the Downs to see her uncle put the horse into action. He tells her she is just in time to see Tom Cartwright.

CHAPTER XIV

A tubby little fellow of middling years came around the corner. Smiling Tom Cartwright. A good jockey in youth, he was now one of America's shrewd trainers; campaigning a stable for a millionaire who insisted on having stake winners in his barn. He had won two Derbies for his owner; now he was planning, half a year ahead, to win a third.

"Evening, folks," he said, stopping at the tack room door. "This the young owner?" He touched a broad-brimmed hat. "Glad to know you, Miss. I've got news. Talkin' cash tonight—"

"What's this?" Linda looked from Smiling Tom to Uncle Sandy.

"Tom, here, is tryin' to take a option on Golden Toy," Sandy Gordon explained. "He knows a colt that wins the Jockey Club Stakes in the fall is a sure Derby winner next spring—"

"Not always, Sandy," Cartwright shook his smiling face.

"Huh! There was Reigh Count, Clyde Van Dusen, Twenty Grand—a passel of 'em. If the Toy wins, Tom wants to buy him for a measley fifteen thousand—"

"Twelve, I said, Sandy. If he wins. Here's two hundred, option money." He held up the bills.

"Mr. Cartwright, you take an option on every good colt in the Stakes, don't you?" Linda asked. "Get a jump on other wealthy buyers, who haven't developed a good 2-year-old?"

"Now, ma'am," he turned to her. The eternal smile creased his wind-worn cheeks; but his gray eyes were gimlet-hard. "I sort of like the colt—"

"So do others." Linda was all business. "Uncle doesn't know it—I just got here a moment ago—but I have a flat offer of sixteen thousand, and a filly thrown in to boot for Golden Toy. If he wins. Can you top that? If not, no use talking."

It was a lie, a monstrous lie. No, Linda told herself, it was just horse-trading. Greek meeting Greek.

Smiling Tom lifted his hat, rubbed his bald pate, looked at Sandy Gordon. "And I thought I was a horse-trader, Sandy." He shook his head, but still smiled.

"Mr. Cartwright doesn't want to trade; I'll drive into town, give an option, Uncle—" With swift steps she reached her car. Jumped in. "See you tonight, Uncle Sandy." She threw on the self-starter, stepped on the gas, started off.

"Heh!" Smiling Tom ran after her. She stopped. "Yes?"

"Wait a minute, Miss." Cartwright put a foot on the running-board. "Now, if you'll listen to reason—"

* * *

Ten minutes later Smiling Tom waddled off, an option in his pocket, calling for the purchase of the colt for $17,500—if he won the Jockey Club Stakes. No purchase if he was beaten a whisker, even. Linda had not two, but five hundred dollars option money.

"Here's fifty expenses, Uncle Sandy. Remember, the owner holds the cash."

Uncle Sandy said nothing for a moment; but pocketed the money. Then, "Well, I'm darned!"

"Callie and I have taken a cottage; guess you'll prefer to sleep in the tack room, eat in one of the track kitchens?"

He would; racing was the breath of life to him. Never mind dainty rooms and fancy meals—

"An' Norman, he sleeps in the feed room. We're fixed up great."

"Fine! Be seeing you every day." As she drove off, Callie sitting beside her, Norman crept from behind the stables—

By 8 o'clock Callie had the furnished cottage in order; Linda's typewriter keys were clacking when someone knocked on the door. Who was that? If it was a garrulous neighbor—

"Bruce!" she exclaimed, as she threw the door back. "How'd you find me?"

"I see Mr. Sandy every day or so. Here—take a look." He gave her a manila envelope. "Open—read." She glanced from the envelope to Bruce. This was a different Bruce, a more determined Bruce than she had ever known. "All right—sit down."

She opened the envelope. Drew out galley-proofs of a short story. Bruce said: "Sold that last month—wanted to surprise you, so didn't mention it."

Linda's eyes swept through the lines. She looked up. "You rascal! You've put Uncle Sandy in this; he's the whole show!"

Bruce grinned. "No, just a composite of the Uncle Sandys in the Blue Grass. About time for a new character in light fiction: like Ephraim Tutt, or Tugboat Annie, or old Judge Priest—only different." He sobered. "They want more."

"Bruce, this is great! Sell it yourself?"

He shook his head. "Remember my agents—those two young women in New York?" She nodded. "Best in the business. They've been fooling with me—oh, for years." It was true, Linda recalled. "Haven't made a nickel on me. Don't see why they haven't thrown me over. So—being a bit ashamed, I went to work."

He got up, took the proofs from her. "Got to go—correct these tonight. May out another one. Be seeing you." He smiled—and was out the door without another word. Linda stood still a moment. Heard his footsteps die out. A catch came in her throat—

She shook her head. "None o' that, m'girl," she told herself grimly; sat down at the typewriter again, began pounding the keys.

* * *

Four days later Uncle Sandy asked, "Read the entries this morning?"

No, she hadn't. She, too, was busy writing. The old horseman sniffed. "And you the owner! Golden Toy—I dropped him into a condition race this afternoon. Six furlongs."

"Why—why didn't you tell me you were going to? I thought you had decided to hold him back for the Stakes?"

"He needs educatin'; you be in the paddock at 4 o'clock."

And at 4 o'clock Norman led the blanketed colt into the enclosure. The saddle bell rang; valets trooped in with their jockeys' tack. Norman brought the colt up; Uncle Sandy skillfully saddled him. Then jockeys—the sun flashing on their silks—came down the tanbark path. Said the trainer: "I got Marder ridin'—best boy there be for handlin' a green 2-year-old."

A jockey in the scarlet jacket, purple cross sashes and sleeves of the Gordon colors stopped at their stall. He had the build of a stripling, the face of a matured man. "Listen to me, Marder," Uncle Sandy was giving last-minute instructions; "this here colt has early foot—and he's a stayer. Get out in front—push him—make every post a winnin' one. Understand?"

Marder, who had ridden a thousand horses to victory, nodded; said nothing. Chewed gum as if unconcerned. The bugle sounded the call to the post. The jockey grasped the reins with one hand his saddle with the other. "Up you go!" Uncle Sandy threw him up. The horses paraded out.

Linda, her nerves a-jangle, went with Uncle Sandy into the infield, to watch the race closely. "If there ain't no post delay—" the trainer muttered. Then—

* * *

The shout went up from the stands as the field shot out from the starting-gate. "Durn if he didn't get out in front," Uncle Sandy said, as a great golden animal, ridden by a jockey in scarlet and purple, streaked ahead of the pack. "He's opened daylight—yes, sir, we got a right good colt." Uncle Sandy spoke judicially. "Now they comin' to the turn—he's opening up more daylight—

"Whoa, there!" the trainer shouted excitedly. His trained eyes saw it first. Now Linda saw—and her heart seemed to stop. Golden Toy was running wide coming into the stretch—running to the outside fence—Marder was fighting him—

"Oh, shucks!" Uncle Sandy exclaimed. "Come on—race is over for us." But it wasn't—quite. The colt lost a half a dozen lengths on the run-out; but Marder, speeding him along the tow-path by the outer rail, managed to finish third.

The disappointed crowd—Golden Toy had been heavily played—hissed and booed as Marder rode back to weigh out. Uncle Sandy took Linda's arm. "Don't worry, honey—the crowd's always a fool," he said.

Marder slid from the colt, jerked the saddle off, weighed out, then came to Uncle Sandy as a disgruntled Norman blanketed the colt and led him away.

"What happened, son?" Uncle Sandy asked.

Marder took a deep breath. Said: "Awful sorry, boss—but I couldn't help it. We was three-quarters around the turn—I was holding him steady, then, like a flash o' lightnin', he shot to the rail."

Uncle Sandy nodded. Repeated the track's oldest phrase, "Better luck next time." Then, "I want you for the Stakes, son. We'll break him of that." The trainer started back to the stable, to cool out the colt. Linda went through the gate onto the clubhouse lawn. And almost ran into Monte Hill's arms.

"Linda! I just shipped in from New York! Been looking for you; then I saw the Toy entered. Knew I'd find you at the finish. Come on—I've got something important to tell you."

ATTENDANCE AT SPRING SLUMPS

Total of About 50,000 Persons Recorded for 1938

A decrease in attendance at Kitch-iti-kippi Spring for the season of 1938, as compared with last year, is indicated as the official season draws to a close.

There were 63,000 visitors at the spring last year, whereas to date slightly less than 50,000 have visited the park this year. The "official" season is generally considered to be the time during which a caretaker is assigned to the park, the season extending from Memorial Day to October 1.

That the attendance will exceed 50,000 is expected, but it is unlikely that last year's record of 63,000 will be approached.

A general decline in tourist movement was indicated generally throughout the upper peninsula this year, as a result of a sharp slump in economic conditions. Most resort operators reported a falling off in attendance.

Palms-Book State Park, site of the Big Spring, is open the year around and hundreds of visitors are attracted to the wonder spot in the winter, as well as in the summer. There is no caretaker in charge during the winter season, however, and no effort is made to record the number of visitors after the caretaker's quarters are closed for the season.

The spring remains a constant temperature of 40 degrees both winter and summer, and consequently does not freeze in the cold weather.

Charles Niggeman has returned from Beaverton, Mich where he spent his vacation at the home of his parents.

The first presentation will be "Microcosmo," to be offered Sept. 22, at three p. m. This features the projection of microsopic slides on a large screen, showing minute animal and insect life and numerous other interesting objects. A lecturer accompanies the slides and explains the pictures. This is considered a highly educational presentation.

On October 20 the Bohemian Glass Blowers will be presented at an evening performance. This group of talented artists display modern glass blowing, and the manufacture of small animals, birds and flowers from glass.

Dr. Arthur Carpenter, astronomist, will be here November 3, at nine a. m. and will deliver an interesting lecture, "The World and Universe We Live In."

In the evening of December 5, the Alabama Jubilee Singers will present a musical program, including the signing of negro spirituals and old plantation songs. This is a colored group whose repertoire is similar to the Mississippian Singers, who appeared here last season.

"Spooks and Frauds" is the eerie title of the fifth lyceum number. This program will be presented Feb. 1 at an evening performance, and features Prof. H. L. Tarman. The program debunks spirits and shows how the public is defrauded through the medium of seances, ghosts, etc.

Concluding the series will be the Matthews Family, a group of youngsters in a musical and dancing program that is cordially received everywhere.

Findings Of NLRB Opposed By Fords

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP)—Counsel for the Ford Motor Co., objected today to the findings of a labor board trial examiner that the company had violated the Wagner act at its Long Beach, Calif., assembly plant.

The Long Beach case is one of six in which the board has disagreed with the Ford company's labor policies.

The company complained that it was not given a "full and fair" hearing of CIO charges in the Long Beach case. It asserted that the examiner was "prejudiced" and questioned witnesses with a view to "eliciting testimony unfavorable to the company.

The examiner declared in an intermediate report that the company had interfered with the organization of a United Auto Workers local. He recommended the reinstatement of all employes who took part in a strike at the Long Beach plant.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—The stock market cracked abruptly today under the long strain of watching the Czech-Nazi dispute in central Europe develop to an acute stage.

The heaviest wave of selling since last November knocked leading shares down 1 to about 6 points in the last hour of trading after the market in early dealings had made a gesture toward extending yesterday's reluctant rally.

The signal for the scramble to get rid of stocks was the report the Sudeten party had issued an ultimatum to the Czech government demanding withdrawal of emergency measures within six hours.

Overnight financial quarters seemed to have found a measure of relief in Hitler's Nurnberg speech, seeing little in it to change the immediate outlook for war or peace. Markets started off with what appeared to be a sigh of relief. But the uneasiness perceptible in money centers for weeks returned more distinctly than ever as reports of disorders in Sudeten areas and steps taken to preserve authority came in during trading hours.

More than a million shares changed ownership around the crowded trading posts in the last-hour rout, putting the stock ticker as much as five minutes behind transactions on the floor. Transactions for the day were 1,700,680, the largest since July 27, against 601,960 yesterday.

When the over-worked ticker turned in belated final quotations, U. S. Steel was 54½, down 4½; General Motors 43½, down 3 7-8; Chrysler 67½, down 6¼; Bethlehem Steel 54, off 4 3-8; Montgomery Ward 43 3-8, off 4¼; Anaconda Copper 30 1-8, off 3¼; Santa Fe 30¼, down 5, and Briggs 29½, off 5¾.

The Associated Press composite price of 60 stocks had its widest fall since last November 19. It lost 2.3 at 45.6.

The steep slide took the market out of the narrow range it had occupied for about two months while observing the storm clouds rising over Europe. The European situation meanwhile had diverted attention from business recovery in the United States. Latest primary returns from Maryland and the vote in Maine also were obscured by the European events, although many Wall Streeters professed to get satisfaction from what they interpreted as signs of a more conservative mood among the nation's voters.

While business reports still nourished hope for further gains, the possibility of extensive liquidation of American securities from Europe in the event of war seemed to weigh more heavily in the immediate calculations. Adding to nervousness, it appeared, were rumors much of the liquidation in the last hour came from foreign sources.

Foreign dollar bonds also were shake nand most corporate domestic loans turned lower with stocks after responding half-heartedly for a time to a rally in the U. S. treasury list.

A dramatic touch was a fast rise in wheat, the first clear hint war alarms had registered in the grain pit in the traditional fashion. Wheat closed 2 5-8 to 3½ cents a bushel higher at Chicago and corn was up 7-8 to 1½. Cotton, however, fell 65 to 90 cents a bale.

On the curb losses ranged to 6 points in Aluminum of America, American Cyanamid B, Lake Shore Mines, Newmont Mining, Sherwin Williams, Niles-Bement-Pond and Pittsburgh Plate Glass. Sales totalled 199,000 against 92,000 shares in the preceding session.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Sept. 13 (AP)—Frantic sudden efforts to buy on a huge scale whirled Chicago wheat prices up 3½ cents a bushel in the last minutes of trading today.

Announcement a six-hour ultimatum from Sudeten Germans had been served on the Czech government set ablaze the wild fire buying that made values soar. Speculators acted instantly on apparent likelihood that fresh warlike developments were pending, with actual big military operations possible before tomorrow.

Highest prices of the day were reached just as gongs cleared excited brokers out of the pits. Accelerating the market jumps were assertions that the United States government export subsidy on wheat shipments overseas via the Gulf of Mexico had been hoisted 3 cents a bushel.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 2 5-8 to 3½ cents up compared with yesterday's finish, September 65 1-8, December 65½ to 66¼, corn showing 7-8 to 1½ gain, September 52 5-8 to 52 7-8, oats 1-8 to ¼ advanced, rye 3-8 to 3-4 bulge, and provisions varying from 10 cents setback to a climb of 2 cents.

Preceding the late stampede to buy, wheat values here had tended downward most of the time, and in some cases fell about a cent. The general disposition shown was to give attention to big surplus supplies in North America and elsewhere rather than to stress war talk.

Corn, rye and oats took their cue from wheat market action. The circumstance was ignored that foreign buyers were neglecting United States corn in favor of lower priced Argentine.

Provisions averaged lower with hog values and with cottonseed oil.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK

Chicago, Sept. 13 (AP)—Strictly grain fed steers and yearlings continued to get dependable action today. Weighty steers were scarce, strictly prime kinds absent. This explained a $13 top against $13.35 on Monday. The season's largest run of well bred western stock steers and yearlings sold at $9 down. Hogs lost 15 to 25 cents and after a steady start fat lambs weakened.

Hogs 17,000, including 4,500 directs; mostly 15 to 25 lower than Monday's high time; top 9.25 paid for few loads strictly choice 230 to 250 lbs.; bulk good and choice 160 to 190 lbs., 8.65 to 8.95; 200 to 250 lbs., 9.00 to 9.20; odd lots 270 to 310 lbs., 8.90 to 9.10; few light packing sows, 7.75 to 8.00; most medium and heavyweights, 7.00 to 7.65; shippers took 1,500; estimated holdover 1,000.

Cattle 10,000, calves 1,500; fed steer trade mainly steady; medium to good grades slow, weak to a shade lower in instances but clearance good; strictly choice heavies absent; top 13.00 paid for four loads scaling 1,118 to 1,330 lbs.; several loads 12.00 to 12.50; steers and yearlings now selling at 11.00 down, about 25 lower than late last week; shipper demand not especially broad but today's crop ran liberally to western bred stockers and feeders, thus making beef supplies comparatively small; bulk steers on killer acount 9.25 to 12.00; all other classes fully steady; heifers scarce, best 11.00; short feds 9.50 down to 8.50; and western grass heifers 8.00 down to .50; cutter cows 4.00 to 5.25; weighty sausage bulls up to 6.85; most vealers 10.50 to 11.50, few 11.75, stock cattle steady.

Sheep 10,000, including 1,500 direct; late Monday spring lambs weak to 25 lower; top natives to shippers 8.50; bulk 8.00 to 8.25; bulk westerns 8.00 to 8.50; sheep steady; today's trade on spring lambs active, mostly steady; westerns upward to 8.25 and 8.35; natives to packers, 8.00 to 8.25; sorted lots to small killers 8.50 to 8.60; sheep steady; native slaughter ewes 3.00 to 3.50.

New York, Sept. 13 (AP)—The bond market, following the news from Czechoslovakia, suddenly turned downward in late trading today.

Off to a much firmer start, after yesterday's irregular decline the list had showed substantial gains until publication of the ultimatum to the Czech government made by the Sudeten party. This quickly turned the trend.

Sales were the heaviest since last July as a result of heavy liquidation in late selling. Turnover totalled $7,247,175, face value, compared with $4,406,575 Monday.

There was confusion in the foreign corner of the market place following news of the ultimatum.

German issues were among the heavy losers in the foreign list which generally was lower.

Rail liens showed improvement in early trading, but slumped along with the market in the final hour. Among the carrier losers were B. & O. convertible 4Bs at 12¾, Erie 5s of '75 at 11, Great Northern 4s at 89¾, N. Y. Central 5s at 53, Pennsylvania general 4½s of '65 at 96.

Bethlehem Steel 4¼s at 103 7-8, Youngstown Sheet & Tube 4s at 100 7-8 and Jones & Laughlin Steel 4½s at 91½ were lower.

Utilities as a group also were slightly lower. International Telephone 5s were off 2 3-8 to 64, and American & Foreign Power 5s weer off 7-8 at 48.

U. S. government obligations lrmed up in early trading, following yesterday's break, but turned easier in late trading. Closing prices were pretty well mixed. Gains ranged up to around 7-32 in the more active issues, and higher in some inactive loans, against losses of 1-32 to 6-32.

WHEAT SENT UP BY WAR SCARES

Prices Skyrocket Almost Four Cents In Final Trading Period

Chicago, Sept. 13 (AP)—Disquieting news of increased war tension in Europe touched off a wave of buying in the wheat pit here that skyrocketed prices of the bread grain almost four cents in the last five minutes of trading today.

Dispatches on financial tickers that Sudeten German leaders had given the Czechoslovak government an ultimatum demanding withdrawal of emergency measures snapped the market out of the lethargy which had characterized trading in recent weeks. It was the first time the wheat pit has shown any unusual excitement over the European crisis.

Within a few moments prices jumped approximately four cents from early lows. Closing at 65 1-8 a bushel for September delivery and 65½ to 66¼ for December, wheat showed gains of about 3½ cents above yesterday's close. Other world markets were undisturbed although Kansas City prices closed about two cents higher.

The wheat pit was a bedlam of trading at the closing bell. Excited brokers, swamped by the sudden rush of buying, fought frantically to execute their orders and it was several minutes after the close before final prices could be posted on the blackboards.

Pennant Races at a Glance

(By The Associated Press)

The Chicago Cubs lost a golden opportunity to gain on the Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League yesterday when they lost to the Boston Bees. The defeat dropped the Cubs four games behind the idle Bucs, who were rained out at New York, and gave the Pirates a six game advantage in the important "games lost' column.

The Yanks moved closer to their third straight American League pennant by beating Cleveland. The champions now only need five victories to clinch the flag.

BENGALS CLUB FOUR PITCHERS

Kennedy Goes Distance; Greenberg Homerless In 9-3 Victory

Detroit, Sept. 13 (AP)—Clubbing four Boston pitchers for 10 hits, the Detroit Tigers conquered the Red Sox 9 to 3 today to extend their latest winning spurt to six straight games. It was Detroit's 24th triumph as compared to 13 defeats since Del Baker succeeded Mickey Cochrane as manager on August 8.

Vernon Kennedy went the distance for Detroit and allowed eight hits in registering his 12th triumph. Bill Harris, Jim Bagby, Jr., Dick Midkiff and Al Olsen twirled for the Red Sox.

Homers were hit by Fred Walker, of the Tigers, and Michael (Pinky) Higgins, of the Red Sox—but not by Hank Greenberg who was seeking No. 51.

Six Runs In Sixth

The Tigers won the game in the sixth inning when they scored six runs on as many hits, Ervin (Pete) Fox's double that sent home two runs featuring the attack.

Walker, Fox and Kennedy collected two hits apiece to lead the Detroit attack. Mark Christman and Charley Gehringer were the only Detroiters to go hitless. Greenberg singled, popped to Higgins at third, fanned and walked twice.

The clubs play their final contest of the two game series tomorrow with Tommy Bridges listed to hurl for Detroit and Emerson Dickman for the Red Sox. Bridges will be seeking his seventh straight win. It will be the final clash of the year between Boston and Detroit, the New York Yankees coming to town Thursday for a three game series.

Dixie Walker's fifth home run of the season, with the bases empty in the first inning, sent the Tigers off in the lead. Greenberg ended the inning by fouling out to Pinkie Higgins.

The Sox tied the score in the third on Cramer's single, a walk to Vosmik and Cronin's single.

Harris Knocked Out

York singled two Detroit runs home in the Tiger third to make the score 3-1. Kennedy's single, Foxx's error on Morgan's grounder, and an intentional pass to Greenberg filled the bases before York hit safely to left field scoring Kennedy and Morgan .

A six-run Detroit rally knocked Harris out of the box in the fourth. Rogell opened with a single, Christman flied out, and Kennedy and Morgan singled, Rogell scoring, before Jim Bagby relieved Harris. Greenberg's infield single scored Morgan, and York's fly to center scored Walker. Pete Fox doubled to left scoring Gehringer and Greenberg. Rogell, up for the second time in the inning, grounded to Doerr for the third out.

Bagby was lifted for a pinchhitter and Rookie Dick Midkiff pitched for Boston, retiring the Tigers hitless in the firth.

Jimmie Foxx doubled and Higgins hit a home run into the upper right field pavilion in the sixth to cut Detroit's lead.

GENTLEMEN EARLY BIRDS

Shreveport—Curtis Parker, coach of the Centenary College Gentlemen, avoids intense heat by having his gridders report for practice at 6 a. m.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

Delta county alumni of the University of Michigan are watching with much interest the work of Fritz Crisler in his attempt to rebuild the shattered Wolverine morale...Crisler opened practices this week with about 60 boys reporting with experienced lettermen at every position...the line should be one of the strongest in the Big Ten with veterans two deep at almost every position...the backfield is a bit less certain, however, because returning material from last year is not too good.

—o—

Two backs expected to do things this year are Tom Harmon, who was the prize prep back two years ago in Indiana, and Strong, former University of Illinois ace...the later is well known to the Wolverines, having defeated them with a field goal two years ago...he is recognized as a fine quarterback, good passer and excellent kicker ...Harmon is the boy upon whom the Wolverines are relying to carry the mail...Ralph Heikkinen of Ramsey, who was in Escanaba this summer, is being counted upon heavily by Crisler in his rebuilding plans.

—o—

Crisler, though favored with an abundance of god material, faces a tough task this year in that the three biggest rivals, Michigan State, Ohio State and Minnesota, are well heeled with material... these three have defeated the Wolverines four times in a row and Crisler was brought in to stop these steam-rollers...if he is successful in stemming the tide, he will have the backing of Michigan alumni one hundred percent... while we reserve judgment on later games, we'll go on record as seeing a Michigan victory over Michigan State in the opener.

GALENTO KEEPS NO. 1 STANDING

Finnish Boxer Barlund Moved to Second, Baer Third

Montreal, Sept. 13 (AP)—Tony Galento, the Jersey nightstick, retained his position as the No. 1 contender for Joe Louis' World heavyweight boxing title in the list of rankings issued at the annual meeting of the national boxing association today.

Gunnar Barlund of Finland was moved into the No. 2 spot among the heavies after being listed sixth in the rankings made last June. Max Baer, former champion was ranked third while Tommy Farr was dropped down to eighth.

Three changes were made in the list of champions since the last previous list was issued in July. Al Hostak of Seattle was recognized as middleweight titleholder as a result of his victory over Freddie Steele, who was not ranked among the first five in the division. The veteran young Corbett III of Fresno, Calif., was named No. 1 challenger.

Henry Armstrong's decision to vacate the featherweight championship was recognized by declaring the title vacant with Joey Archibald of Providence, R. I., listed as the leading contender. Armstrong also was given the nod as lightweight champion with ex-champ Lou Ambers relegated to the No. 1 challenging position.

MUST VACATE TITLE

Montreal, Sept. 13 (AP)—The National Boxing Association decided today to recognize the winner of a bout between Joey Archibald of Providence, R. I., and Leo Rodak of Chicago as world featherweight champion after accepting the decision of Henry Armstrong to vacate the crown at its 19th annual convention today.

In making up its list of champions and contenders, the N. B. A. declared the title vacant and listed Archibald as No. 1 challenger and Rodak as No. 2. They must meet in a bout of not less than 15 rounds for the winner to earn title recognition.

The convention went on record as favoring the suggestion advanced yesterday by Secretary Ed Foster that a champion in one class should relinquish a title before competing in championship bouts in a higher division. It recognized Armstrong as champion in both the lightweight and welterweight divisions, however.

The drawing up of ratings was the main item during the second day of the convention. In additionl to putting the stamp of approval upon Armstrong's two titles, with Ceferino Garcia named as No. 1 welterweight challenger and ex-champion Lou Ambers as No. 1 lightweight, the only major change saw Al Hostak of Seattle boosted to the top of the middleweight heap. He recently won the title from Freddie Steele, who was not given a place on the list. Young Corbett 111 of Fresno, Calif., continued as first challenger.

The champions and No. 1 challengers listed in other divisions:

Heavyweight: Joe Louis, Detroit; Tonye Galento, Orange, N. J.

Light heavyweight: John Henry Lewis, Phoenix, Ariz.; Al Gainer, New Haven, Conn.

Bantamweight: Sixto Escobar, Puerto Rico; Johnny (K. O.) Morgan, Detroit.

New Champ Sought For Feather Crown

New York, Sept. 13 (AP) — The New York State Athletic Commission received formal notice today of the surrendering of the featherweight boxing title by Henry Armstrong and took under consideration plans for crowning a new champion.

Eddie Mead, manager of the triple champion, notified the commission the little Negro fighter was relinquishing the featherweight crown because of lack of competition. Mead also suggested an elimination tournament to find a new champion with Armstrong presenting the winner with a belt.

The commission, however, was undecided whether to hold a tournament or match Mike Belloise of New York and Joey Archibald of Providence and recognize the winner as champion.

RUFFING WHIPS INDIANS, 7 TO 1

Western Campaign Opens Strong for Yankees; Need Five More

Cleveland, Sept. 13 (AP)—The New York Yankees opened their last Western invasion in spectacular style today by whipping the Cleveland Indians, 7 to 1, behind Charlie Ruffing's eight-hit pitching.

Ruffing won his 21st game and edged over the "20" mark in games won for the first time in his 13 years of big league ball. The tribe scored its only run in the third when Lyn Lary Walked, stole second and came in on Jeff Heeath's hit.

The New Yorkers put the game away in the fourth. Denny Galehouse went up in the air and before the inning was over Earl Whitehill was on the mound and the Yankees had scored four times on two singles, three walks a force play, a double steal, a hit batsman and passed ball.

After that it was all gravy. The champions picked up two more in the sixth on Ruffing's walk, Rolfe's double and Lou Gehrig's second single. They got another rnu in the ninth.

The Indians locked in a battle for second place with the Boston Red Sox, stayed a half game astern the Bostons, who also lost. The Yanks needed only five more victories to clinch the American league pennant.

Camp Germfask In Double Win Over Germfask Sunday

Camp Germfask took both games of their double-header with the town team of Germfask on Sunday. The scores were 8 to 2 and 7 to 3.

Jarzemski allowed five hits as the Camp collected eleven off Losey in the first game. Panozza led the team on the offense with three hits in three times up. He also played a fine game in the field. Prindes had three out of four and Szczudlo two out of four. A. [illegible] led Germfask with two out of three.

Brotherten of Curtis pitched for Germfask in the second game and Dellich for Camp Germfask. The game was called in the last of the sixth, due to a heavy downpour of rain, with the Camp leading 7 to 3. Jarzemski, Mareskas, and Dellich led the winners on the offense with two out of three. Mareskas played a fine fielding game at short and started one double play when he made a sensational stop, stepped on second and threw to first. Hudson had two hits for Germfask.

HARTNETT BACK BEHIND BATTER

Veteran Turner Limits Chicago Crew to Four Singles

Boston, Sept. 13 (AP)—The Boston Bees today opened a long home stay by defeating the second-place Chicago Cubs, 5-2, behind the four-hit pitching of Jim Turner.

That veteran righthander carved out his 13th win by limiting the visitors to singles as he and his mates pounded Clay Bryant for 11 safeties.

Elbie Fletcher had a perfect day at bat while leading the Bees' attack with two singles, a double and a triple. Joe Stripp also hit safely each time, bashing out two one-baggers and a double.

The Bees clinched the game in the fourth by tallying three runs on Fletcher's double and singles by Stripp, Lopez and Turner. The Cubs scored both runs in the sixth and the Bees added two more in the eighth.

Manager Gabby Hartnett caught for the first time since Aug. 15, when he fractured his right thumb in St. Louis. Three double plays enabled the Cubs to hold down the Boston scoring, for in addition to the 11 hits, Bryant gave three bases on balls against two for Turner.

PERKINS AND ROCK TO MEET

Three Game Series Will Be Used to Settle League Title

Arrangements were completed yesterday for the three game series between Perkins, first half winner, and Rock, second half winner, to settle the Delta county league championship.

The first game will be played at Perkins Sunday afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock. The second game will be played at Rock on September 25 and, if a third is necessary, it will be played at Trenary, neutral ground, the following Sunday.

In discussing arrangements, Rock wanted to play only one game for the title because of weather problem but Perkins held out for the three game series.

Perkins won the first half title with a hard drive after losing its first two games. The team did not fare so well in the second half, finishing well down the list.

Rock, after finishing the first half in second place, came back to defeat the Escanaba Eagles last Sunday in a play-off game, necessitated because of a tie at the end of the regular schedule.

An effort is being made made to get Big Mike Walch and Jack Rubens of Escanaba, two umpires who handled the play-off last Sunday, to officiate the series. These two are considered among the best umpires in this region.

All bills for umpiring American and National league games must be in the recreation office not later than Thursday night. All remaining money will be distributed Friday according to number of games umpired.

EMERALDS WILL EMPLOY SHIFT

Notre Dame System Is Taught By Coach Frank Jehle

Manistique, Sept. 13—When the Eskymos open the 1938 football season at Manistique Saturday, they will find the Emeralds using the same type of football formations which characterizes Coach Nordberg's teams—the Notre Dame shift.

For Coach Frank Jehle, starting his first year as head of the Manistique football squad, is a Notre Dame man and an exponent of the shift which Coach Knute Rockne invented and made famous.

The Emeralds have taken a definite fancy to the Notre Dame shift and are progressing nicely under the careful handling of Coach Jehle. The first team is composed mainly of new material, however, and their strengths and weaknesses will not be entirely evident until after the Escanaba game.

Coach Jehle has already selected his starting lineup, with reservations, of course, for last minute changes. McMillan and Thomas are assigned to the end positions; Bennett and Hentschell at tackles; Miller and Larson, guards; Hoholik, center; Lambert, quarterback; Jordan and Patz, halfbacks; and Dyer, fullback.

A real "find" was uncovered this week in LaMuth, stocky freshman fullback. LaMuth demonstrated considerable drive and power in scrimmage workouts this week, and undoubtedly will see action against the Eskymos Saturday. Other reserves who may or may not get into the scrap are Hulshof and Hastings, ends; Peterson, tackle; Dewey and Shampine, guards; Asp, center; Hamill, G. Johnson and Noe, backs.

The varsity game Saturday will start at 2:30 o'clock, and will be preceded by a battle between the reserve teams of the two schools. This game will begin at one o'clock.

The starting lineup for the reserves will be B. Asp and McDonough, ends; Dragosh and Schubring, tackles; Smith and Johnson, guards; Nessman, center; Males, qb; Southard and Chartier, halfbacks; and Waters, fullback.

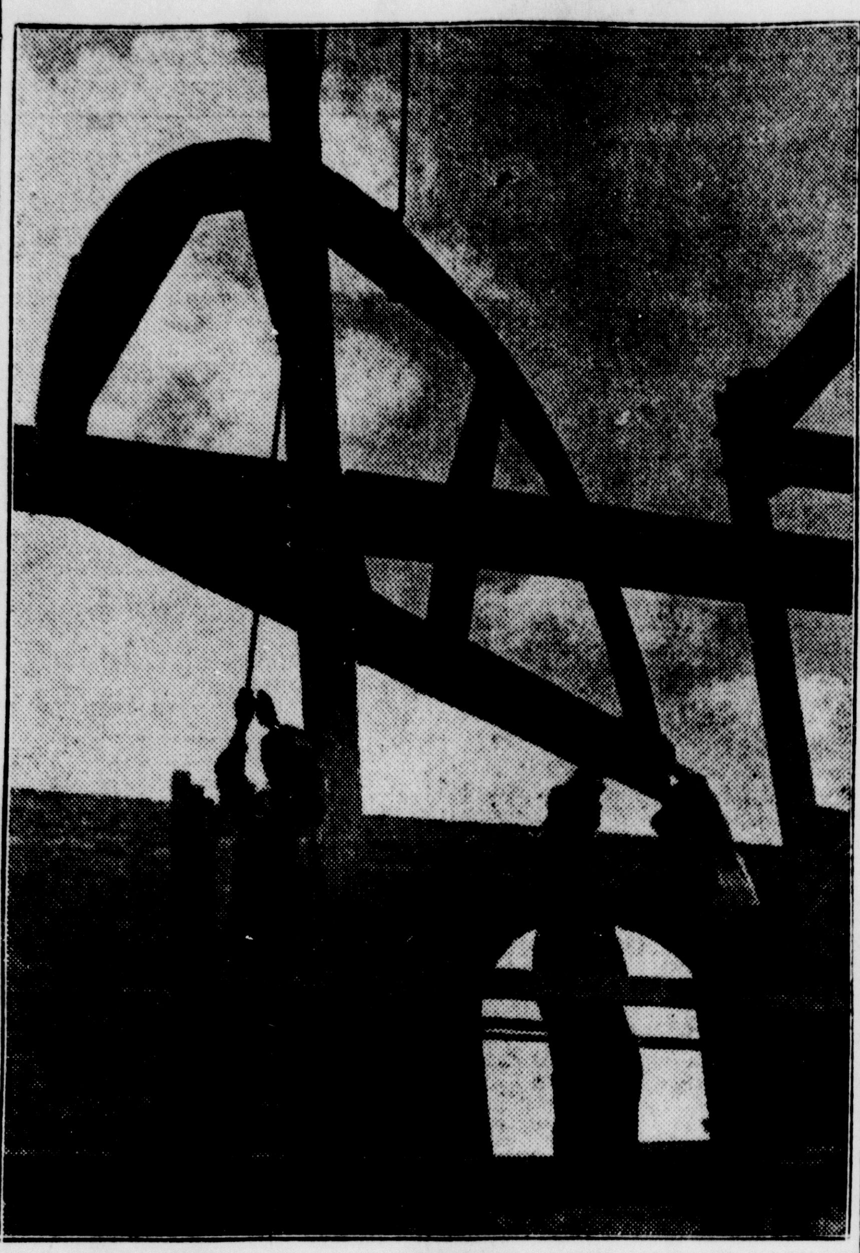
Arches Rise In New Local Church



A group of workmen at the New St. Joseph Catholic church, First avenue south and Seventh street, are shown above as they raised a form into place for one of the massive arches which will line the building. Stonework on the new rectory, which is the gift of parishoners of the church, was begun the first of this week. Both buildings will be of Kasota stone, and of similar architecture to the William Bonifas Memorial auditorium and gymnasium which was completed this spring.

ADOLF HITLER IS DEFIED BY CZECH NATION

12 persons at least were killed. Disorderly crowds attacked public buildings in various towns and villages in the German-populated districts, ran up the swastika on flagpoles, fought with police, and demonstrated wildly, shouting and singing Nazi songs and slogans.

Part of the government's drastic step provided the death penalty by special courts for persons breaching the peace.

Two factors pointed to a possible amelioration of the war fever. In Berlin a propaganda ministry spokesman refused to regard the Sudeten demands as an "ultimatum" and said it was a problem between the Czechs and the Sudetens.

In Paris diplomatic circles said there was a split in the British and French cabinets over Sudeten demands for a plebiscite.

May Force Plebiscite

Czech sources in Paris said the Prague government might be forced to hold a plebiscite—which some believed was the demand Adolf Hitler made in his Nurnberg speech Monday asking "self-determination" for the Germanic minority.

Chancellor Hitler kept his own counsel in his Bavarian mountain retreat near Berchtesgaden. The official German news agency issued a denial of reports from abroad of a "partial German mobilization."

In both London and Paris government leaders acted hastily. Britain's defense ministers met with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain in a virtual war council, and Premier Edouard Daladier of France kept a late watch at the war ministry with high military advisors. Both countries were prepared for almost any emergency.

In League of Nations circles at Geneva it was reported Soviet and France were trying to convince Great Britain that any further concessions to Chancellor Hitler would be impossible without wrecking the government of President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia.

In Rome the Italian government sponsored a statement advocating separation of Sudeten German territory from Czechoslovakia as the only means of avoiding a European war.

BY FRED VANDERSCHMIDT

London, Sept. 14 (Wednesday) (AP)—The civil and military leadership of an aroused Britain prepared for the worst in virtually continuous consultations last night and early today as the Czechoslovak government, its back to the wall, ignored an ultimatum from the Sudeten Germans.

Expiration of the Sudeten German demand for an end of martial law in the Sudeten regions came within a few tense morning hours between Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's first "preparedness" council with his service chiefs and a second crisis meeting of the full cabinet.

Many anxious observers believed the resulting Sudeten German-Czechoslovak deadlock, coming as it did with a new flood of Sudetenland blood, meant the show-down with Chancellor Adolf Hitler had become a matter of hours.

These observers feared a plebiscite proposal would be almost impossible to combat, though it might mean utter ruin for the Czechoslovak nation.

Little knots of people stood in dismal Downing Street long after midnight, waiting for something—they didn't know what. In the light of a few dim lamps they quietly scanned the morning newspapers.

One of them, the Mirror, screamed in four-inch type: "War unless Britain is strong."

Bulgaria Building Up Stronger Army

London, Sept. 13 (AP)—A British new agency (Reuters) dispatch from Sofia, Bulgaria, said tonight it was reliably reported the government would issue an order tomorrow for military registration of all men between the ages of 20 and 50.

The Bulgarian army began maneuvers Monday which will last a week.

(The Balkan entente,—Greece, Turkey, Yugoslavia and Rumania—agreed July 31 to cancel clauses of the World war treaty of Neuilly and permit her to rearm.

State Legislative Council Will Study Civil Service Law

Lansing, Sept. 13 (AP)—The legislative council created a bipartisan subcommittee today to study the Civil Service law.

Rep. George A. Schroeder, Democrat, Detroit, chairman of the council, said an advisory board composed of one employee from the staffs of elective state officers would be appointed later to assist the sub-committee.

He said the study would deal, among other things, with the need for legislation to speed the filling of vacancies.

The subcommittee is composed of Reps. Chester B. Fitzgerald and John F. Hamilton, Democrats, Detroit, and Vernon J. Brown, Mason, and Joseph E. Warner, Ypsilanti, Republicans, and Senators Earnest C. Brooks, Democrat, Holland, and Miller Dunckel, Republican, Three Rivers.

VOTE HEAVY IN LUCE COUNTY

Sayles Wins Republican Nomination for Prosecutor

Newberry, Mich., Sept. 13—A fairly heavy vote was recorded at the primary election held here today with the Republicans heavily outscoring the Democrats.

On the Republican ticket, Alex Sayles defeated John Shimmens, 805-341, for the prosecuting attorney post while Dr. Robert Gibson outvoted Dr. R. E. Spinks, 564-354, for coroner. Other candidates unopposed were; William Buffett, state representative; John Turnbull, sheriff; William McMahon, clerk; and Joseph Minard, treasurer.

In the only contest on the Democratic slate, Ezra Aldrich, incumbent, won the nomination for state representative, polling 108 votes for 33 for Clarence Cowman and 21 for John Saul. Other candidates unopposed were: sheriff, E. E. Shaw; clerk, Robert Ward; and treasurer, Mark Perry.

Jail-Breaker Gives Up At Big Rapids; 2 Others At Large

Big Rapids, Mich., Sept. 13 (AP)—Hungry and tired, 23-year-old Dean Munn readily submitted to re-capture Monday night to end a freedom from jail since Sunday morning when he and two companions sawed cell bars and fled.

Sheriff Caesar Hampel came upon the Blanchard, Mich., youth wandering in the wooded area southeast of Big Rapids and later reported Munn had told him of being brow-beaten by his flight accomplices, his money seized, and himself deserted.

Munn, who was awaiting sentence of larceny of an automobile, escaped with Earl Porter, 28, of Lansing, convicted of breaking and entering, and Howard Hutchison, 27, of Lakeview and Flint, awaiting sentence for check forgery.

The sheriff said Munn told him he gave up a dollar he had under threats and never saw Porter and Hutchison again.

"I'm glad to be back," the sheriff said Munn declared.

More Policy Houses Raided In Detroit

Detroit, Sept. 13 (AP)—Resuming raids on alleged policy houses in the drive on the number game, police today arrested Louis Weisberg, one of the alleged "big four" in the policy racket, and held eight women and 14 men as witnesses. Police Lieut. John McCarthy said Weisberg would be charged with possession of 10,000 policy tickets.

Monument Is Our'n, Nosy Tourist Told

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 13 (AP)—A tourist, who had stopped in Pack Square here and obtained travel information from a patrolman, was about to drive off when he sighted the tall granite monument erected to Zebulon Baird Vance, North Carolina's Civil war governor.

"Who's monument is that?" he asked.

"It's our'n," the policeman related.

TYDINGS WINS BY LANDSLIDE IN MARYLAND

on the mounting returns, but last night he said that if he had failed "others will take up the torch—and will not fail."

Gov. Harry W. Nice, Republican, won the most one-sided victory of the primaries, leading State Senator Harry T. Phoebus for the gubernatorial nomination in every county and district.

The Nice-supported Republican senatorial candidate, Oscar Leser, Baltimore judge who resigned to make the race, also was leading Galen L. Tait, former Republican state chairman, and appeared to be the man Tydings will have to beat Nov. 8 to return to the senate.

In the four-man race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination youthful, smiling Attorney General Herbert R. O'Conor, held a lead over Mayor Howard W. Jackson of Baltimore, his nearest rival, and William S. Gordy, jr., state comptroller, and State Senator Lansdale G. Sasscer.

SNOWBALL ROLLING

Portland, Me., Sept. 13 (AP)—The re-election of Republican Governor Lewis O. Barrows and three G. O. P. congressmen was written into Maine's election book tonight after a campaign in which the new deal was made an issue and all successful congressional candidates embraced the Townsend plan.

Barrows' victory margin over former Governor Louis J. Brann (D) settled at 17,000, with an unofficial tabulation of yesterday's biennial election virtually complete. W. V. Tabbutt, communist, also ran on the gubernatorial ticket.

Barrows, who lambasted the new deal in campaign speeches, received a congratulatory message from Governor George D. Aiken (R), of Vermont, only state to join Maine in Republican ranks against the Roosevelt landslide two years ago.

"You've started the snowball," Aiken said. "Let's roll it clear across the country."

VERMONT STAYS PUT

Montpelier, Vt., Sept. 13 (AP) — Staunchly Republican Vermont, adhering strictly to its tradition of not unseating its incumbents, tonight renominated three of its top G. O. P. office holders—Governor George D. Aiken, Senator Ernest W. Gibson and Representative Charles A. Plumley.

The Democratic organization, in a state which seldom has defeated a Republican nominee, named its slate without a contest. Opposing Aiken, Gibson and Plumley, respectively, in November, will be veteran Democratic Leader Fred C. Martin, John McGrath and James P. Leamy.

Governor Aiken, who has stepped into the national limelight by criticizing the national Republican organized, literally snowed under Elisha Goodsell, 65-year-old ferryboat operator, after only the lightest of campaigning. The governor enjoyed a more than 33,000 majority as the tabulation neared completion.

Senator Gibson likewise ran so far ahead of Martin S. Vilas, Burlington attorney, that the result was in little doubt after the early returns.

The sharpest campaigning prior to the primary voting had been done by Rep. Plumley and Jack Crowley, a former national vice commander of the American Legion, but Plumley ran away from him as tabulation progressed, more than doubling his opponent's vote.

BALLOTS IMPOUNDED

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 13 (AP)—Burnet R. Maybank, mayor of Charleston, rolled up a 13,000-vote majority on the face of returns from today's Democratic run-off primary for governor but, at the request of his opponent, Yyndham M. Manning, state troops impounded the ballots cast in Charleston county.

With only 21 of 1,505 precincts unreported, the unofficial vote was: Maybank 160,728; Manning 147,133.

Roy A. Powell, secretary to Governor Olin D. Johnston, announced here late tonight that national guardsmen ordered out by the governor had taken in custody the ballot boxes of Charleston county in which Maybank was credited with 21,352 votes against only 1,365 for Manning.

In a heated campaign since the first primary of August 30, in which six other candidates were eliminated, Manning requested the Charleston county executive committee several days ago to allow him to appoint two managers at each of the polling places. The committee rejected the request.

OUTCOME IN DOUBT

Manchester, N. H., Sept. 13 (AP)—Governor Francis P. Murphy, wealthy industrialist, tonight led Attorney General Thomas P. Cheney into the home stretch in New Hampshire's tight Republican gubernatorial primary, but slow tabulation of the big-city vote left the outcome unsettled.

With most of the rural vote counted, Murphy and Cheney remained within a few thousand votes of each other. After 190 of the state's 297 precincts had been accounted for, a heavy vote in a single precinct still could have wiped out Murphy's lead. Both endorsed the Townsend old age pension plan.

The Republican senatorial contest found U. S. Representative Charles W. Tobey enjoying a two-to-one lead over the closest of his opponents in a three-man race.

(By The Associated Press)

Two close contests for gubernatorial nominations developed last night (Tuesday) as returns piled up from the day's primary elections.

In a South Carolina Democratic runoff, with election actually at stake, Burnet R. Maybank had 160,728 votes to 147,113 for Wyndham M. Manning. A total of 1,484 of the state's 1,505 precincts had reported.

New Hampshire's Republican primary, on returns from 145 of 297 precincts, gave Governor Francis P. Murphy 12,408 to 10,970 for Thomas P. Cheney. In the Republican senatorial primary there, the count was: Rep. C. W. Tobey, 14,262, Eliot A. Carter, 6,748 and Joseph Moore, 599.

Vermont Republicans gave commanding leads to three incumbents, all seeking renomination. They were Governor George D. Aiken, Senator Ernest W. Gibson and Rep. Charles A. Plumley.

In Michigan, former Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald was running well ahead of Harry S. Toy, for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, and the right to meet Governor Frank Murphy, Democrat, in the November elections. Murphy was unopposed.

Two house members from South Carolina were apparently beaten in the runoff primary. John C. Taylor was trailing B. B. Hare and G. H. Mahon was behind Joseph R. Bryson. G. Lloyd Ford led John L. McMillan for a third place in the house.

Partial Louisiana Democratic primary returns showed J. K. Griffith, Newt V. Mills and T. O. Brooks, the only Louisiana house members who met opposition, were leading.

Condition Of Mrs. Norton Reported As Still Serious

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 13—The condition of Mrs. John P. Norton, wife of the publisher of the Escanaba Daily Press, who sustained injuries in an automobile accident two miles south of the city limits on highway US-41 early Saturday morning was said to still be serious.

Mrs. Norton is reported to have incurred a fracture of the skull, several broken ribs, a spinal injury, and cuts and lacerations about the face and scalp. She is a patient at the M. & M. hospital.

Today we still have our frontiers . . . in commerce, industry, agriculture and science. They are stubborn.
